1946 ARBUTUS

BONNIE HODGES, EDITOR IN CHIEF
MARY EDITH JAMISON, BUSINESS MANAGER

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
Bloomington, Indiana

As time goes by and one finds himself far along on some distant, future way of life, he may turn, glance back, and then, and then only, can he truly evaluate these events that are the present. We are no exception. We are nearsighted. But we have tried to project ourselves — to give you in this 1946 ARBUTUS a true picture of the year — a picture of what some day will be memories, some of the best memories of your life . . . Even now as you turn these pages for the first time, you find memories, and even now these memories are mellowing and the circumstances that created them are changing. This is as it should be. A University should be the symbol of change and progress . . .

And yet, there is something unchanging about a University. Through all this pattern of change and counterchange there is woven the steel thread of tradition, without which there would be no pattern — no lasting pattern. And so, let us say it has been a year with more than its share of changes . . . but a year that saw the rebirth of many of the old traditions. We emerged from four years of war and rushed almost desperately into peace, remembering back to gay days. The G.I.'s came home . . . came in large numbers and swelled the enrollment, creating new spirit at I.U. . . . The new spirit and the old together . . . let that stand for Indiana University — for the year of '46 . . .

In tribute . . .

... they gave their lives

PRESIDENT WELLS

Trains, planes, and ocean liners play an important part in the life of Herman B Wells. Not only is he the president of one of the finest universities in the Middle West, but he also plays a large part in national affairs. President Wells divides his time between the nation's capital and Bloomington. His main duties are acting in an advisory capacity for the State Department and on various national educational committees.

Last spring he acted as an advisor at the United Nations Conference in San Francisco. In February of this year, he journeyed to Greece where he was one of the supervisors of their national elections.

President Wells, with the help of his assistants, maintained a high record for Indiana University during the war; and now that the war is over the campus has almost completely returned to normal.

And yet, even though President Wells's mind is filled with campus and national problems, he is never too busy to have friendly chats with the students.

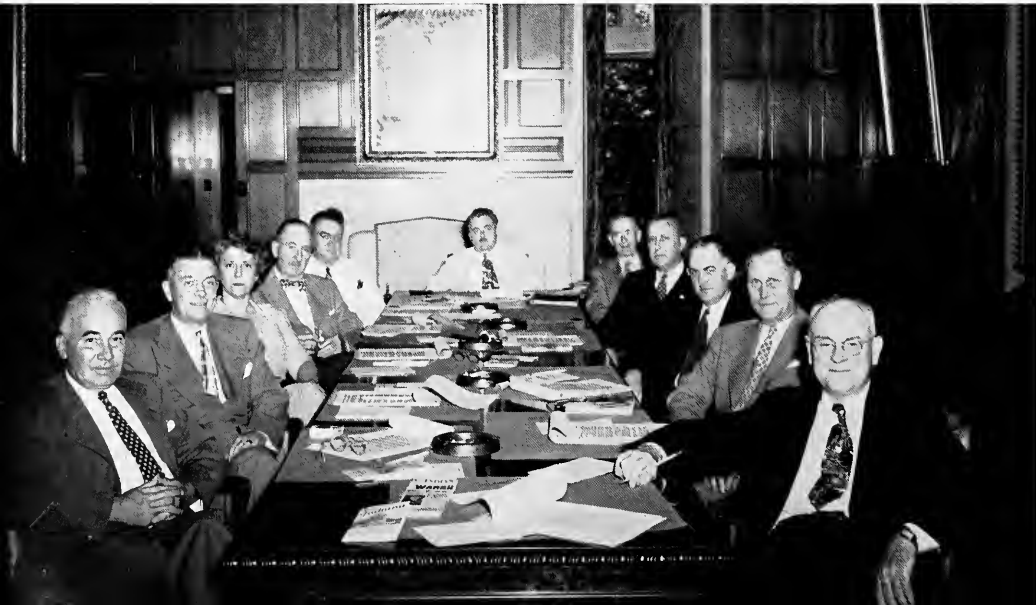

The Board of Trustees of Indiana University is composed of eight citizens of the state of Indiana. Three of the members of the Board are elected by the alumni of Indiana University; the remaining five are recommended by the State Board of Education and formally appointed by the Governor. Tenure of office is three years and it is so arranged that one member is elected each year. Upon the expiration of term of office a member may be re-elected.

It is the function of this governing body to co-ordinate the efforts and facilities of the University in the most efficient manner possible. Many of the current standards and policies of the school are the result of their responsibility.

Members of the Board are: Judge Ora Leonard Wildermuth, Paul Lambert Feltus, William Albert Kunkel, Jr., John Simpson Hastings, George W. Henley, C. Walter McCarty, Frank Emerson Allen, and Mrs. William F. Maurer. Mr. Thomas A. Cookson, University Registrar, acts as secretary and Mr. Ward G. Biddle as Vice-President and Treasurer.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

WARD G. BIDDLE, Vice-President and Treasurer, started his career at I.U. in August of 1923 when he returned a few years after his graduation, to manage the Bookstore. In 1932, in addition to this duty, he was appointed director of the newly completed Union Building. In 1936, he went to the Office of Comptroller. In August of 1942, after nineteen years of faithful service, he became Vice-President and Treasurer of I.U.

During enrollment, students see the name of Ward G. Biddle on their cards. That name takes on significance as they learn of Mr. Biddle's exhausting efforts in behalf of his Alma Mater, Indiana University.

HERMAN T. BRISCOE, Vice-President and Dean of Faculties, is not often seen or heard by I.U. students, but his valuable presence is felt by them. In his executive position at the head of the academic branch of the University, Mr. Briscoe patiently and wisely irons out problems of the different schools, coordinates the efforts of all deans, and formulates policies of scholastic diet. Quiet efficiency characterized his work as Instructor in Chemistry, as Chairman of the Chemistry Department, and as Acting Dean of the School of Business. And his mastery of personnel administration was put to good use by the War Manpower Commission in Washington, D.C.

For the first time since 1941, when 1344 seniors participated in Commencement exercises, Indiana University seniors are graduating in June. As the wartime speed-up program, which included a commencement every semester end, at least 1000 students are expected to participate in the first full-scale program of graduation activities since May, 1942.

The 1946 Senior Class is unusual because of wartime circumstances which either speeded up or interrupted the educational progress of its members. Under the accelerated program, a large percentage of students who entered as freshmen in 1942 have already been graduated. To the number remaining from the freshman classes of that year have been added countless others who have returned to the campus after two, three, or four years of war service to receive their degrees.

J U N I O R C L A S S

The increasing enrollment in the University created the need for a system of organization for each of the four undergraduate classes in order to bring about greater class unity and increased school spirit. In keeping with this idea the Junior Class met and elected officers for its first postwar school term.

With the war over, the accelerated program discontinued, and the larger enrollment, Junior Class government this year had its first chance to take major steps toward promoting class spirit.

The biggest project of the class is sponsoring the annual Junior Prom which has been put under the direction of the Junior class under provision of the Prom Constitution. Therefore, the first and most important function of the officers was to act as representatives of the class on the selection committee to name the members of the Prom Committee.

According to tradition, the Junior Class held a smoker this year at which time Prof. Ralph Collins, Department of English, gave an informal talk on "Campusology" and the position of the Junior Class on campus. The Prom Committee Chairman made his report at this time.

Since the chief reason for electing class officers is to promote a feeling of unity, friendship, and class spirit among the members, this was the main endeavor of the sophomore officers. A smoker was held in March for the purpose of getting the students acquainted. A street dance was planned for later in the spring but had to be abandoned because of numerous complications which arose. The finale to the year's activities was the Freshman-Sophomore Baseball Game which we hope can be made an annual affair. A hat has been engraved and is to be given to the victorious class to be held until the next game is played. Thus we are carrying on the tradition started by the 1944-45 officers and sincerely hope future officers will do likewise.

FRESHMAN CLASS

Four hundred and fifty Freshmen filed into the auditorium to elect their class officers Thursday evening, November 9, 1945. Bob Smith was elected president; Jack Brennan, vice-president; Ann Kennedy, secretary; Ronald Coapstick, treasurer; and Oliver Burry, Leonard Wexler, and Phyllis Stewart, directors.

The first meeting of the Freshman class officers took place in connection with the Student Council and with the officers of the Sophomore, Junior, and Senior classes. The group discussed spirit among and between the different classes. In order to arouse enthusiasm between the Sophomores and Freshmen, the latter challenged the Sophomores to a baseball game to be held in the spring. Jack Brennan and Ronald Coapstick were put in charge of arrangements for the game and the organization of the team.

Definite plans were formulated for the Freshman Dance at the second meeting. March 15 was the date of the dance, which had a St. Patrick's theme, and was called "The Shamrock Shuffle." Marjorie Brink was chairman of decorations.

ATHLETICS

The rise of athletics at Indiana is now complete. A Western Conference championship in football last fall gives our school possession of more honors in the many intercollegiate sports than can be boasted of by all but a very few American colleges and universities. In the last decade Cream and Crimson teams have won Big Ten and national acclaim in baseball, basketball, wrestling, and track.

At the top of I.U.'s athletic hierarchy is Mr. Zora G. Clevenger, who should satisfy the best old-school traditions of what an athletic director should be. For three years the starting left-half of Indiana football elevens, Clev captained the Hoosier gridders of 1903. Twenty years of work in college sports followed his graduation the following spring before he returned to his alma mater as chief of athletics. We think one of the finest things Mr. Clevenger and company have done in their development of so many first-rate teams is the retention of a collegiate atmosphere in sports at Indiana University in the midst of an era in which college sports have become discouragingly professionalized.

And so we present a review of sports at Indiana University for the school year 1945-46. It was a great year for the Hoosiers.

Coach McMillin often said that the 1945 Cream and Crimson gridders were an exceptionally spirited and compatible group. The Hoosier mentor was thus able to avoid dealing with the clash of temperaments which usually goes with a galaxy of stars as he had assembled.

The Hoosier fullback, Pete Pihos, had just returned from infantry service in Europe when he reported to Bo in late September and was fitted into the backfield. George Taliaferro, a freshman, was the Conference's leading ground gainer from his left half slot. At quarterback was Bennie Raimondi, who passed his way to the post of the Big Ten's number one aerialists; and at right half was Melvin Grooms, a fleet-footed ball carrier and glue-fingered pass receiver.

The Indiana ends, Bob Ravensberg and Ted Kluszewski, won the praise of the Hoosiers' victims all season; Ravensberg for his immovable defense of the left flank position and Kluszewski for his adeptness on the offense.

The Hoosier linemen who performed so well were John Goldsberry and Russ Deal, tackles; Howard Brown and Joe Sowinski, guards; and John Cannady, center. A burly group which averaged better than 200 pounds, the Crimson forward wall of 1945 was a far cry from those of past seasons when Indiana won the appellation of "pore li'l boys."

BO McMILLIN...

Alvin Nugent (Bo) McMillin

Bo McMillin, an All-American player for Centre College a quarter of a century ago and now an All-American coach! Last December the nation's sportswriters and coaches named him Coach of the Year and "Man of the Year" in postseason polls.

Bo's story is as familiar as it is legendary. His career began in Fort Worth, Texas, approximately thirty years ago, though few know just exactly when. A high-school star there, he migrated to Centre College, deep in Kentucky's bluegrass country. It was at Centre that Bo became an All-American quarterback on the Prayin' Colonel team that knocked off mighty Harvard.

After leaving Centre, Bo stepped into the coaching ranks and began his slow but steady rise into big time. Three years as head coach at Centenary College in Louisiana were followed by another three at Geneva College in Pennsylvania. Then came six years at Kansas State and the big hike to Indiana. Hoosier football fortunes had sunk to an all-time low when the drawling Texan took the reins after the 1933 season. There have been some discouraging years since then, too, but people aren't likely to forget for a long time that Bo coached Indiana to an undefeated season and the Western Conference championship in 1945.

...AND HIS COACHING STAFF

"Swede" Anderson

C. A. Temerario

Bo McMillin is always one of the first ones to accord to his six-man staff of assistants a generous chunk of the credit for the 1945 football team's success. That sextet of pigskin professors included Carl Anderson, C. A. (Timmy) Temerario, Charles McDaniel, Gordon Fisher, Johnny Kovatch, and Paul (Pooch) Harrell.

Anderson returned from Navy duty October 1 to work with the backfield. His forte was pass defense, and the effectiveness of his work might be judged by the fact that the Hoosiers were quite vulnerable to aerial attack in their early games but allowed Bob DeMoss of Purdue only one completion in the final tilt.

Temerario, another Navy veteran, was charged with the development of Bo's tackles, guards, and centers. It was he who worked with John Cannady, as the ex-fullback became an able center.

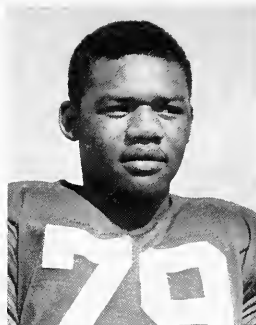

Both McDaniel and Fisher were in charge of showing the reserve elevens the styles of offense used by the various opponents of the Hoosiers. McDaniel, also wrestling coach, is a former gridiron star, and rejoined his alma mater only last summer.

Kovatch has tutored flankmen Kluszewski and Ravensberg ever since they first donned Indiana uniforms.

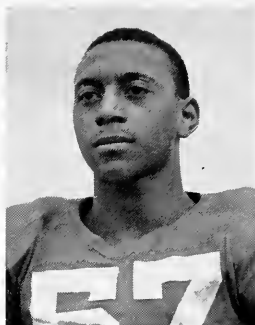

Harrell had the unenviable task of scouting the Hoosiers' foes. Thus he didn't see an Indiana game until the wind-up contest with Purdue.

MICHIGAN 7

Coach McMillin began his bid for the Western Conference championship with a 13-7 decision over Michigan in Ann Arbor September 22.

Indiana got off to a fast start in the opening period with Taliaferro running and passing the oval down to the Wolverine nine-yard stripe. Raimondi flipped a scoring pass to Kluszewski in the end zone.

A fifty-four-yard pass play gave the Bomen their second touchdown in the next quarter. Power plays took the ball from the Indiana 19 to the 46. Then Raimondi faded for another overhead and hit Groomes at the Michigan 25 yard stripe. Mel sped down the sidelines for the score. Kluszewski executed the conversion and Indiana led, 13-0, at half time.

Michigan tallied its touchdown in the third stanza by a ground attack. Joe Ponsetto booted the extra point, making the count 13-7, and setting the stage for the Wolverine drive which Bo's boys halted on their four-yard stripe in the last seconds of the fourth quarter.

It's Groomes on the receiving end of the pass that gave the Hoosiers their second touchdown.

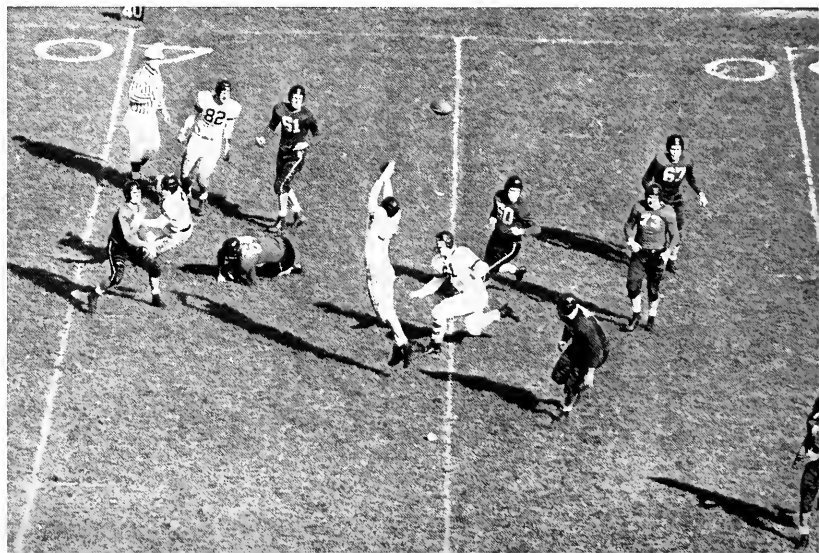

That's Pihos on the ground in the end zone. He's just scored the touchdown which, coupled with Armstrong's place kick, gave the Hoosiers a tie with Northwestern.

The Northwestern Wildcats splotted the only blemish on Indiana's fine record in Evanston September 29. The 'Cats made the Bomen struggle to gain a 7-all tie.

The first-half was all Northwestern, as Conners and company scampered up and down the field with discouraging success, though the Bengals' touchdown came as a result of a blocked kick. After the visiting Hoosiers held for downs on their fifteen, Taliaferro's blocked punt was recovered by Stan Gorski in the end zone. Jim Farrar was successful with his conversion attempt, and the home team led, 7-0, at the intermission.

The Hoosiers didn't get rolling until late in the final quarter. With Kluszewski and Raimondi pitching to Groomes and Ravensberg, the leather was advanced to the Northwestern 15-yard line. Raimondi then got the ball for the pay-off thrust. His pass in the flat found Pihos at the five, and big Pete bulled his way through five of the opposition to the goal line. Charlie Armstrong came through in the clutch with the crucial extra point, and the score was deadlocked at 7-7.

Raimondi tosses to Taliaferro. On the scene are Harbison (64), Ravensberg (61), Horn (50), Goldsberry (78), Brown (73), and Deal (67).

Ready, set, go! Taliaferro lines up with three Wildcats in a race for the punt blocked by Hagmann (75). Stan Gorski (62) eventually recovered the oval for Northwestern's touchdown. The players are poised midway between the five- and ten-yard lines.

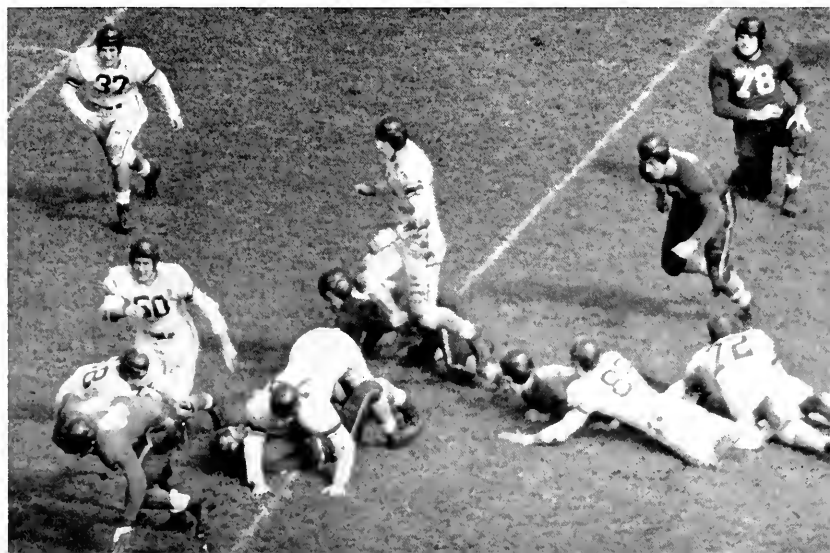

ILLINOIS 0

The hard-hitting Hoosier eleven fought off an equally determined Illinois team, the bad graces of Lady Luck, and the canine mascot of the Illini band to come out on top of a 6-0 score in Champaign, October 6.

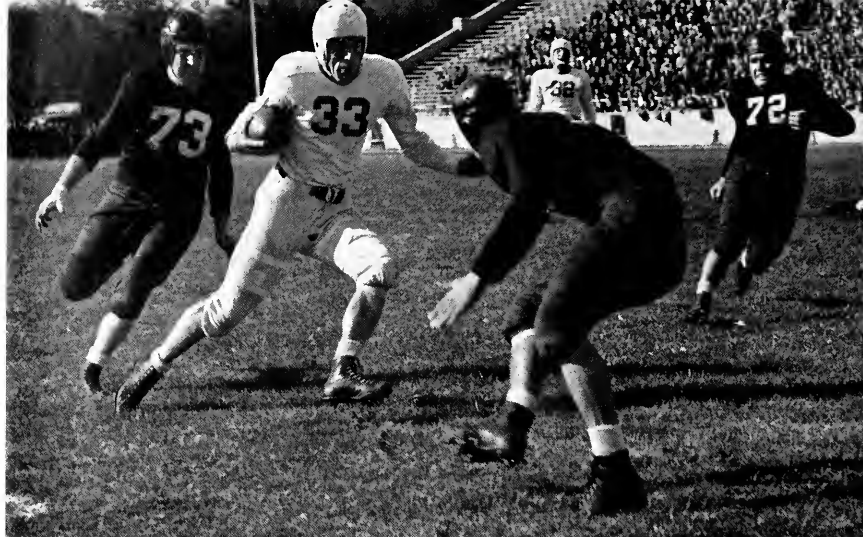

With a fourth down on the Illinois fifteen in the second quarter, Raimondi whipped a pass to Kluszewski in the end zone, but at this time Illinois' mongrel friend chose to scamper onto the field, and the play was called back. Undismayed, Brooklyn Ben lofted another successful aerial to the same player, but the officials ruled that big Ted stepped out of the end zone in catching it.

Taking the ball on a penalty at the Illinois forty-two at the opening of the final quarter, Raimondi tossed to Groomes, to Ravensberg, and to Ravensberg again and the ball rested at the Illini ten after a short gain by Taliaferro. Then the same combination—Raimondi to Kluszewski—which had been thwarted twice on two successive plays in the second quarter, clicked for the winning touchdown.

Taliaferro stumbles momentarily after a jaunt off left tackle in the Northwestern game. Ahead of him are Groomes (57) and Brown (73).

Mack Robinson, Cornhusker halfback, isn't going anywhere on this play! Ready to pin him to the turf are Brown (73), Ravensberg, and Charlie Armstrong (72).

The Crimson gridders gave local fans their first look at the team that had been undefeated in the invasion of three Big Ten strongholds when they smothered Nebraska, 54-14, before 22,000 Homecoming celebrants in Memorial Stadium October 13.

Bo's well-oiled touchdown machine left no doubt as to the outcome early in the contest when halfback Derauek started the scoring parade with a five-yard scamper around end. Pihos bulldozed his way across from the two, and Raimondi fired touchdown passes to Groomes and Ravensberg, giving Indiana a 27-0 advantage at the half.

Halfback Miller dashed 95 yards with the second half kickoff for a touchdown. Bill Armstrong gave his aid to the worthy cause with a couple of pay-off jaunts. Schwartz scored the final Crimson touchdown on a 35-yard run with an intercepted pass. Charlie Armstrong had a busy afternoon with his conversions and was successful in six of eight attempts.

In the meantime, the Cornhuskers had gone across the double stripe twice in the last half on passes by Ed Gradoville.

The Cornhuskers punt from behind their goal line. The Hoosier line has broken through, but not soon enough.

Gallopin' George is trapped on an end sweep in the Tulsa fracas by a trio of Golden Hurricanes.

The Hoosier hopefuls rolled on against an undermanned Iowa squad in Iowa City October 20. In scoring a 52-20 victory, the McMillins won their third Big Ten victory. Indiana tallied all its points in the first three frames and then substitutes yielded a trio of touchdowns to the previously outclassed home squad.

Ravensberg raced 15 yards for the first Hoosier score with an intercepted pass and tallied again by blocking a punt and falling on the ball in the end zone. Taliaferro made an able recovery of some bad ball handling in the Indiana backfield and raced 63 yards into the "promised land." Then, combining speed and deception, the Gary flash ran down the sidelines for 74 yards and another touchdown.

Bill Armstrong and Deranek scampered 48 and 40 yards, respectively, for the fifth and sixth Crimson scores, and Raimondi stepped to the mound to pitch two strikes that were good for twelve more points in the third quarter. His receivers were Gorkis and Deranek.

More than 20,000 Dad's Day fans saw the Hoosiers edge past Tulsa, 7-2, October 26. Old-timers in the stands reported it one of the most bruising contests ever staged on the Memorial Stadium turf.

The Golden Hurricane fielded a team that outweighed the Crimson twenty pounds to a man across the line. Reputedly possessing a sparkling aerial attack, the Oklahomans were able to complete only one of fifteen forward passes.

Indiana's decisive touchdown came in the second quarter when Pihos broke through the line from the Tulsa thirty-seven-yard line and plunged to the twenty. Hit there, he lateraled to Ravensberg, who scampered into the end zone. Charlie Armstrong toed the extra point.

Tulsa's safety was counted in the third period after a quick kick and a penalty had forced the Hoosiers back to their two-yard stripe. Taliaferro, in punt formation, couldn't get the kick off and unsuccessfully tried to run the oval out of the end zone.

Deranek scoots around end, with a Hurricane tackler ready to lunge at him.

That's Deranek, off for a long gain at midfield and outrunning several Cornell athletes.

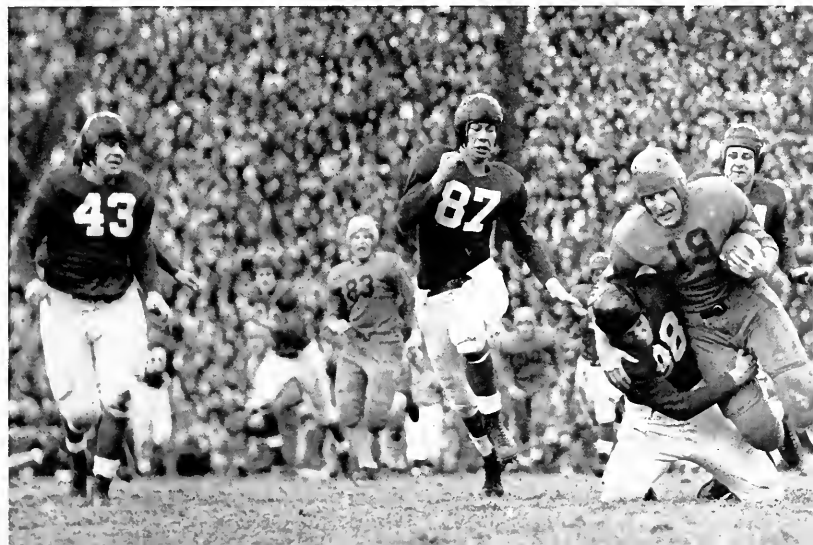

The Hoosiers treated themselves to an easy 46-6 victory over Cornell College of Mt. Vernon, Iowa, in Memorial Stadium November 3.

Though acting-coach Carl Anderson was saving his protégés for their crucial tilt with Bernie Bierman's Northmen the following Saturday, the Crimson had little trouble in running up seven touchdowns before yielding one in the final seconds of play.

Deranek was the ball-toter of the afternoon, scoring three touchdowns on end runs of eighteen, twenty-seven, and thirty-five yards. Pihos, Taliaferro, and Buckner also added six-pointers to the total, but the feature of the game was the second quarter score made by Leroy Stovall, diminutive guard.

With the leather on the Cornell fourteen, Stovall pulled out of the line to run interference for an Indiana backfielder. There was a fumble and Leroy looked down to find the ball nestled under his arm. Without hesitating, he set out for the goal line and sped those fourteen yards without a hand being laid on him.

Deranek has a firm hold on Minnesota's Kasper, but Kokos (43), Kane (87), and Harbison are there just in case.

Under ordinary circumstances, the victory scored by the Cream and Crimson footballers over once mighty Minnesota in Minneapolis, November 10, would have featured the season. Not so in 1945, for the season's accomplishments, considered as a whole, dim the remembrance of any single game.

Indiana, previous winner of only two games over Minnesota in nearly half a century, handed the Northmen their worst setback ever received in the pigskin sport, 49-0.

Taliaferro, who galloped ninety-six yards with the opening kickoff but couldn't score, later tallied three touchdowns, including a ninety-yard dash with an intercepted pass. Miller zigzagged his way sixty-two yards for a touchdown and passed thirty-five yards to Deranek in the end zone for another. Pihos went across for a touchdown in the final moments of the first half. Raimondi passed to Schwartz for the other score. Charlie Armstrong batted 1.000 in his seven place kick attempts to convert.

Such went the scoring in the game that made up for the many, many years that have seen Bernie Bierman and company push around the alma mater.

Taliaferro reaches the end of a six-yard advance in the second quarter of the Michigan contest.

Pittsburgh became the eighth victim of the powerful Hoosier football team November 17 in the Steel City, by a 19-0 score.

Indiana scored a touchdown midway in the first period, matched the Panthers' threats in the second quarter, and added two clinching tallies in the third stanza. The home boys filled the air with passes in the final period, advancing to the Indiana nineteen-yard line.

Pihos, who scored twice, averaged better than four yards a try in twenty-five thrusts through the center of the Pitt line.

In the opening period, after three plays had failed to punch the ball over from the Pitt three-yard line Raimondi whipped a pass to Ravensberg in the end zone.

Goldsberry and Cannady blocked a Panther punt early in the third quarter to set up the second Crimson score. Kluszewski fell on the oval and Pihos bulled his way over in two tries.

A seventy-yard drive later in the same period was capped by "plungin' Pete's" second touchdown thrust.

Every undergraduate knows that Indiana won its first Western Conference football championship last fall. And most of them can tell you that the title was cinched November 24 when Bo's boys trimmed Purdue, 26-0, in Memorial Stadium.

The Hoosiers dominated play in the first quarter but were thwarted by penalties twice. The Boilermakers threatened twice after the teams changed goals, both times reaching the Indiana twenty-three, but the first half ended without a score. The Boilermakers were undone by their supreme effort in the first half, however, and the Crimson ripped through them in the second half. Pihos, Taliaferro, and Groomes carried the ball to the Engineers' thirty-one. Then Raimondi lofted a long pass to Taliaferro, who was downed on the one. Two tries by Pihos brought a touchdown and Charlie Armstrong split the uprights with his conversion attempt. After the kickoff Kluszewski stole the ball from Canfield at the six and plowed to the one. Again the dynamic Pihos smashed across the double stripe. The Hoosiers led, 13-0, at the end of the third quarter.

The final stanza was anticlimactic, but the Champs added another thirteen points on Raimondi's touchdown passes to Kluszewski and Mihajlovich.

Pihos takes a lateral from Groomes. A Purdue man dives for him, while Cannady (38) and Taliaferro look on from afar.

CROSS COUNTRY

Coach Clifford Watson's cross-country squad registered victories over Purdue and Michigan State in dual meets to provide bright spots on an otherwise mediocre record.

The Hoosier harriers opened the season in good style by defeating the Spartans from Michigan State, 32-23. Marshall Rowlette, Indiana's leading runner the entire season, garnered first place. The following week Coach Watson's men kept their record intact by squeezing out a 28-27 decision over Purdue.

The engagement marked the end of the Crimson successes, however. In a three-way meet with Ohio State and Illinois, the Buckeyes romped to a decisive victory, though Indiana managed to beat the Illini by a narrow margin.

It was the same story at the State Meet as Notre Dame's harriers claimed first place. The Crimson were again runners-up, a scant point ahead of Purdue.

In the Conference test at Chicago the Hoosiers closed their season by copping fifth honors with 87 points. Letters were awarded to Rowlette, Deal, Crispen, Prifogle, Demas, and O'Dell.

BASKETBALL...

Coach Harry Good

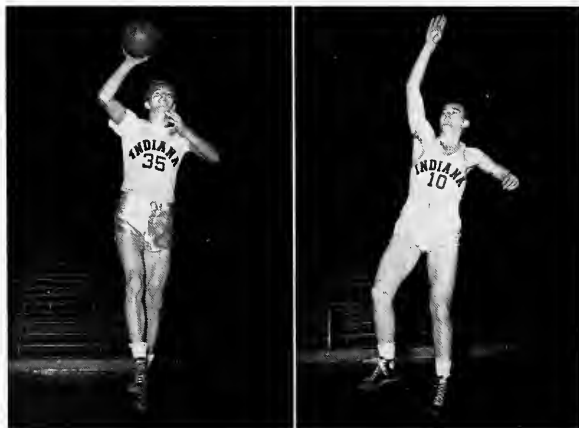

The Hoosier basketball team, relegated to last place in the Big Ten in 1945, added no small measure of athletic glory to the University's annals in the school year just completed by soaring to second place in the final Conference net standings. In fact, it was only a one-point overtime loss to Ohio State that kept the Hurryin' Hoosiers from annexing the undisputed league diadem, a feat yet to be accomplished by an Indiana basketball team.

The banner campaign (eighteen victories and three losses) marked the end of Harry Good's three-year tenure as head basketball coach. Next winter Branch McCracken, back from Navy service, will again pilot the Crimson hardwood entry.

The Crimson achieved their successful record despite the loss of Dick Whittenbraker, stellar guard of the '42-'43 five. Hot-shot Johnny Wallace, another veteran, paced the Goodmen's scoring efforts with 302 points. The accurate sophomore's push-shots smashed Ernie (June Bug) Andres' all-time scoring record of 250 points, set in 1938. Wallace teamed with Al Kralovansky at the forward posts. Tom Schwartz, since drafted, ably held down the center slot. At one guard post was Norb Herrmann, key man on many of the Hoosiers' fast breaks; at the other Jackie Herron alternated with Dave Walker after Wittenbraker's illness forced him to quit competition.

... SECOND IN BIG TEN

After five impressive non-Conference victories in December, the Goodmen stopped Michigan, 67-58, in a torrid overtime battle in Ann Arbor December 22.

Good's charges swamped Chicago a few days later, but ran afoul of a second-half Minnesota counterattack to lose their first contest, 59-48, before a packed house in Bloomington. The netters bounced back to bump Iowa, 45-39, but succumbed to the Purdue jinx-men, 49-38, in Lafayette.

Ohio State and Michigan were defeated in two close contests on the Fieldhouse court, and then Chicago was tripped in the Windy City.

Then came the Crimson's trip to Columbus for a return bout with the Bucks and their disheartening loss. Trailing by 11 points at one time in the second half, the visiting Bloomingtonians knotted the score, 46-all, at the end of the regular playing period. The courageous rally was in vain, however, for the Bucks braced and took a 53-52 decision in the extra period.

This setback dropped the Goodmen to fourth place in the Conference standings, but they came back to batter Purdue, and wind up the campaign in a blaze of glory with victories over Minnesota and Iowa.

WRESTLING

Coach Chauncey McDaniel made an auspicious debut in his first year as Indiana's wrestling coach by guiding the Hoosiers to an undefeated season in dual competition and to second place in the Big Ten meet.

Michigan fell prey to the Crimson grapplers in the season's opener with Elias George's pin accounting for a large portion of the 18-5 victory. Northwestern and Nebraska were defeated in the next two encounters by overwhelming scores.

The match with Illinois's defending Conference champions proved to be the season's thriller, and the Illini were downed, 17-13. Capt. George McCool registered a pin victory after Mike Rolak had defeated the former Conference champion, Bill Burwell. Then, in the heavyweight tilt, Sig Golonka clinched the decision. The next week Purdue fell to the tune of 15-11. Rolak, George, and Golonka all remained undefeated. Usually powerful Ohio State proved to be a breather in the season's final dual meet, and were tossed for a 20-8 triumph.

Bad luck in the draw proved to be too great an obstacle in the Crimson attempt to dethrone Illinois in the Conference grapple-fest, though Rolak and George were crowned individual champions of the two-day session at Champaign.

SWIMMING

Templeton poises on the springboard

Swimming Coach Bob Royer turned his chores over to Bob Stumpner, a leading member of the 1945 team, for the campaign of last winter, while the veteran paddle-master took a leave of absence to pursue his literary fortunes. Stumpner has since been drafted, and Coach Royer will again direct the Hoosier swimmers this winter.

The 1946 efforts of Stumpner's protégés were not too successful, and only a 56-28 decision over Chicago brightened a losing campaign.

Against Illinois, the Crimson took only two first places in losing a dual encounter, 58-26. Ron Smillie splashed his way to a blue ribbon in the fifty-yard free-style race, and Bill Simpson duplicated the feat in the diving competition.

The final score of the Purdue meet was even worse, for the Lafayette men came out on top of a 63-21 score. The Hoosiers took nary a first place.

Simpson was the only Indiana entrant in the Big Ten meet at Minneapolis early in March, but he didn't score. The Hoosiers fared somewhat better in the Indiana A.A.U. event in Indianapolis, annexing third place.

TRACK

The simple truth is this — Indiana's track teams have not yet risen to their prewar greatness. This spring Coach Gordon Fisher has been handicapped, as he was in 1945, by a scarcity of material. Only one stellar Hoosier thinly of past years — miler Earl Mitchell — returned to grace the squad.

The Crimson runners participated in only four indoor meets, and had several outdoor ones on the agenda when the ARBUTUS went to press.

High light of the Fieldhouse campaign was a $53\frac{2}{3}$ - $50\frac{1}{3}$ victory over Ohio State, which was won in the mile relay, last event on the program. Needing a victory in the event to win the meet, a quartet composed of Elliot, Prifogle, Adams, and Bradley came through.

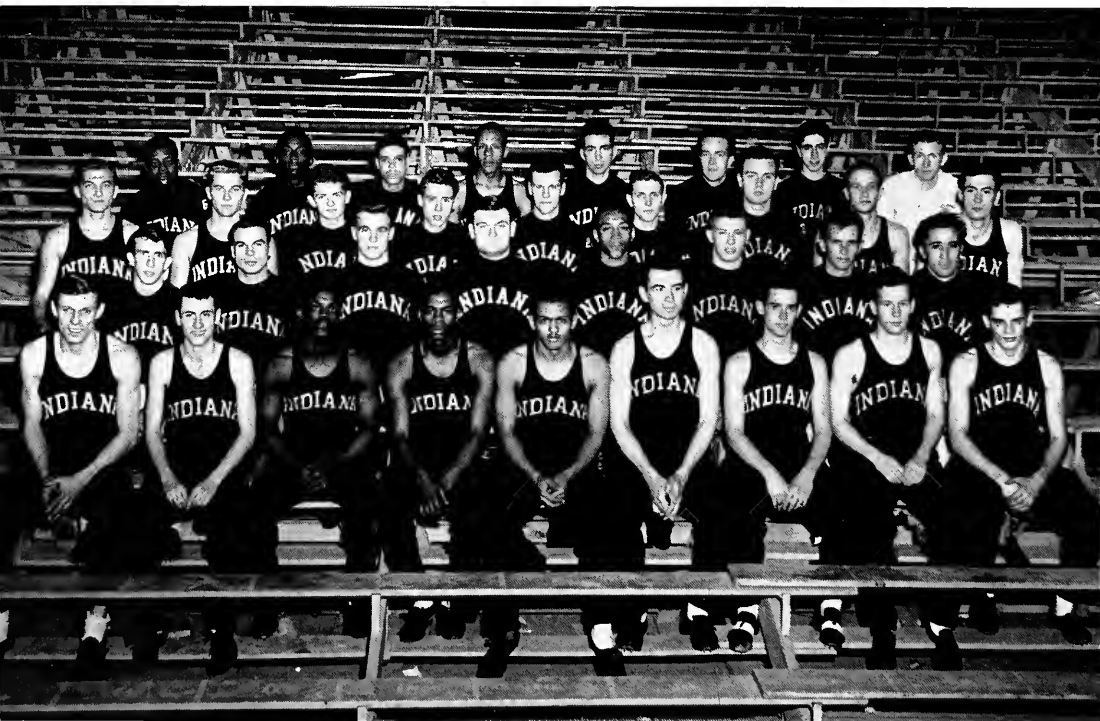

The dual engagement with Purdue ended disastrously, with the Boiler-makers on top of a $69\frac{3}{4}$ - $29\frac{1}{4}$ verdict.

Goldsberry's winning heave of the shot was the only bright spot in an 18-86 loss to Illinois, and the indoor season was closed at the Conference meet in which Coach Fisher's entry ranked eighth. Groomes tied for third in the high jump and Tom Deal scored a fifth in the mile for Indiana's only points.

BASEBALL

News of Pooch Harrell's ninth Indiana University baseball team was rather incomplete when the ARBUTUS went to press in mid-April. At press time it appeared that a good deal of improvement would have to be forthcoming if the 1946 Hoosiers hoped to better the record of the '45 aggregation which wound up fourth in the Western Conference.

Coach Harrell's infield seemed to be the bright spot of the squad. At first base was Al Kralovansky, playing his third season at the position. Around second base, Roy Kilby, Ed Zabek, and George Cherry were vying for the two openings, while third was sewed up by Bob Miller. All five are experienced performers.

In the outfield, only Bob Hoernschemeyer appeared set. The noted half-back's return from Annapolis gave Harrell's lineup some much needed strength at the plate. The other garden candidates were Gerry Rayl, Teddy Zych, and Gene Jarech.

The catching slot appeared a toss-up between Ed Cohen, another third year man, and John Gorkis, with Art Brickner in reserve.

It was the pitchers who were giving Coach Harrell the most worry as the season opener neared, with John Wallace, Ralph Brickner, Joe Normington, Al Williams, Tom Marshall, and Stuart Davis the most promising candidates. The return of Johnny Logan, 1942 star, gave Pooch some much needed strength in this department.

Golf, another varsity sport which took a beating at Indiana during the war years, hopes for a big comeback this spring. Last year the Hoosier linksters didn't win a match, but Coach Jimmy Soutar and faculty adviser Albert Haring, who doubles as a professor in the School of Business, think that the saga of 1946 will be a better one.

Four letter winners played this spring, as only Walt Zuhl was lost from the '45 clubbers. Back to bolster the Crimson Big Ten entry were Dick Perk, sophomore, Tom Blackburn, junior, and Bill Thompson, senior.

As the ARBUTUS went to press, an ambitious eleven-match schedule had been arranged for the linksmen, but no opposition had been met. Soutar's hopefuls will use the Bloomington Country Club course for practicing and for the meets with Miami and Detroit.

Coach Ralph Collins

The outlook for Indiana's 1946 tennis team looked rather dismal in mid-March after Coach Ralph Collins was attacked by appendicitis, but the popular English professor was soon up and around again, urging his protégés on to victory. The results of his, and their, efforts remained to be seen at press time.

One thing was sure, however; the Crimson racketeers won't lack for quantity, even if they do lack for quality. The response to Coach Collins' call for players in March was many times that of previous years. Heading the list was Leon Kaminski, multiletterman and the 1945 Gimbel Award winner, though the rigors of law school may keep him on the sidelines this spring. Other aspirants who had won either letters or numerals in prior years were Bob Webber, Bob Yost, Bill Manis, Bob Bosart, Dick Hunter, Bill Blackburn, and Bill Williamson.

INTRAMURALS

Professor George Schlafer, who is completing his twenty-seventh year in the department of physical education, again headed an extensive program of intramurals. Thirty-one organizations fielded teams in the past — two less than in 1944-45.

At press time Sigma Alpha Epsilon, last year's winner, had a sizable though not commanding lead over Theta Chi, twenty-first in the final standings for 1944-45. Acacia held third place, the same place it was in at the close of last year's competition. The rise of the S.A.E.'s in recent years now presents a serious threat to the domination of the all-time standings by the Beta Theta Pi.

Individual championships in the various sports have been won this year by the following organizations: touch football, Rambling Wrecks; golf, Phi Kappa Psi; cross country, Kappa Alpha Psi; code ball, Acacia; volleyball, Theat Chi; Ping-pong singles, Delta Tau Delta; handball singles, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; basketball, Acacia; swimming, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; wrestling, Kappa Delta Rho.

The track diadem, at press time, was being hotly contested by the Phi Gams, S.A.E.'s, Betas, and Zetagenians. Yet to be put on the block were the tennis and softball titles.

To provide recreation for women on campus interested in sports, and also to give them a chance to meet each other, the Women's Athletic Association has been functioning since 1913.

Its members are given an opportunity to participate in the Oceanides, Dance, Paddock, Bowling, Tennis, Ramblers, and Archery Clubs, and also to attend the many social affairs offered to them.

Participation in intramurals is not restricted to W.A.A. members, but it does count towards requirements for membership.

The annual Gingham Hop is presented in the fall, and a series of parties is given each semester. One of the big events for the group is the banquet in the spring at which time awards are made, and new officers introduced.

W.A.A. is governed by the main board, and an auxiliary board which helps with the activities planned for the club.

MAJOR MINOR CLUB

The principal aims of the Major and Minor Club are to interest students in professional ideals and activities dealing with physical education, to acquaint members with various problems of the field, and to develop a professional fellowship among women engaged in physical education.

Our monthly bulletin is Pemm, giving latest information of interest about our activities for that month. This year's activities have included professional meetings with speakers speaking on the latest developments in physical education and physical therapy. The social programs included a get-acquainted tea, class tournaments in basketball, and the annual Christmas party. Each year a week end is devoted to camping at McCormick's Creek State Park.

Oceanides, the Indiana University honorary swimming club, was organized in 1935 for girls whose special interest is swimming.

The name "Oceanides" is derived from Greek mythology; Oceanides was a sea nymph whose father was Oceanus, the God of sea.

Each year members of Oceanides enter the National Intercollegiate Telegraphic Swimming Meet. This year the club participated in an all-state swimming meet at De Pauw University. Among other activities during the year, Oceanides usually gives a water ballet for W.A.A. members.

Miss Naomi Leyhe is sponsor of the club. Tryouts are held twice a year and the club meets every Thursday night at the pool.

Oceanides strives for form and speed in various strokes, for wholesome recreation, and for the maintenance of good sportsmanship.

ORGANIZATIONS

College life consists of more than attending classes and participating in the social life of the dorms, sorority and fraternity houses. There is another important phase — organizations. The honoraries, social clubs, and governing bodies in which the students participate train them in leadership and widen their circle of friends.

Many campus honoraries wear distinctive hats, while other organizations have keys and pins. Depending on the organization, members are chosen on the basis of leadership, scholarship, and service.

Many of the “hat clubs” are of a social nature, the purpose of which is to promote friendships and encourage school spirit. Some clubs bring together students who have common interests — clubs that are built around hobbies and vocational interests.

The governing bodies give those with leadership ability the opportunity to put it to good use. Members of these bodies are nominated on the basis of “points.” Points are given for scholarship, for service on publications, and to members and officers of organizations. They are voted upon by their fellow students or the faculty.

Indiana encourages all such organizations, for the school feels they help to give a rounded education.

Since every coed is a member of the Association of Women Students, this organization is the largest women's organization on campus. The purpose of A.W.S. is to maintain highest standards of college life, and to bring about greater unity among the women students. To represent the interests of all the members and to guide the activities of A.W.S., is a council of twelve members. This council consists of the president, vice-president, four senior and four junior and two sophomore members. These twelve girls, representing both organized and independent groups, are elected every spring at a mass meeting by all women.

Activities of A.W.S. include publishing "The Chimes," the freshman women's handbook, the fall carnival for all freshman women, Christmas baskets for underprivileged children, bridge lessons and tournament, the Careers Conference and the Townette organization. A.W.S. also maintains a one-thousand-dollar loan fund for women, and sponsors Friday night dances with Union Board.

The center of many of the activities is the east side of the Student Building, where A.W.S. maintains the lounges and meeting rooms, which are open for daily use by all students.

Career women at the Spring Careers Conference

Well under way in its second year, Blue Crest, first honorary on campus established to recognize outstanding independent sophomore women, stands for the highest in scholarship, leadership, and participation in campus activities.

Purposes of the honorary are to promote closer cooperation between the University and independent students, to encourage a greater interest and participation of independent students in University activities, and to stimulate loyalty of students now, and as future alumni, to Indiana University.

In November, Blue Crest's first alumnae got together with active members to talk over future plans.

This spring, Blue Crest joined forces with Sigma Iota, honorary for independent sophomore men, to present the Sweetheart Ball, at which the loveliest sophomore coed was chosen to reign as "Miss Sophomore Sweetheart of 1946."

In May, perfect harmony between the two honoraries was again demonstrated when Blue Crest and Sigma Iota blended voices in the University Sing.

BOARD OF AEONS

One of the highest governing bodies, the Board of Aeons is the connecting link between the student body and the administration. Appointments to the Board, which are made by President Herman B Wells once a year from leading junior and senior men, are based on activity and scholarship merits. Twelve men serve on the Board.

Beginning to function this year as a prewar tribunal, the Board is establishing an activity point system for men students, one of its projects in conducting men's affairs on campus.

The Board was founded in 1921 by President Emeritus William Lowe Bryan and has served continuously from that time, except for a short period at the beginning of the war. Dean Robert E. Bates is advisor.

The Board of Standards, principal governing body for women students, has gained prestige in its seven years of existence at Indiana University.

Serving as an advisory board to the Dean of Women, it is appointed by the senior members of the A.W.S. Council and acts as the judiciary for that group.

One of the principal functions of the Board was the revision of the merit point system and the point limitation system, limiting the distribution of positions held in women's organizations. A "no-cheating" campaign was a major event again this year. The Board is interested in maintaining high standards everywhere on campus.

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB

The Cosmopolitan Club of Indiana University is an organization devoted to the furthering of friendship and understanding between foreign and American students. All foreign students on the campus are members of the club. Each semester an equal number of American students is elected for membership. The Club's activities include discussions, informal lectures, and social meetings such as picnics, dances, and informal parties. Whenever possible the officers of the Club attempt to provide opportunity for their members to talk to each other about their various countries and backgrounds. It is thus hoped that the Club will help in the creation of friendly feelings among the citizens of all nations of the world. At present, it includes members from Europe, South and Central America, Hawaii, the Philippines, and Asia. It is hoped that the membership will include many more groups as the end of the war will give many students in different lands an opportunity to pursue their academic careers at Indiana University.

Epsilon Phi Sigma, an organization intended to acquaint Hellenic students with each other, to promote their general welfare, and to further vitalize the Hellenic culture, was founded on the campus of the University of California at Berkeley in 1940.

The purpose of the organization is to assist in the orientation of new Hellenic students, to cultivate mutual interests, and to foster friendships by offering a program of social, educational, and civic activities.

In January of 1944, a group of eight students founded a chapter of Epsilon Phi Sigma on the Indiana University campus. In March of the same year, the Dean of Women and the Dean of Men formally recognized the local chapter at the University of Illinois.

Regular membership is open to any student of Hellenic descent enrolled in Indiana University.

Although it has been rumored that the Flame Club was founded in a phone booth in the Book Nook one rainy night in 1934, it really had its roots in a group of law students who met every Monday night for a boress with a faculty man. From its ranks in 1938 came the independent men who formed the "Secret Committee of X" and elected the first unorganized Prom Queen in I.U. history. Later this "Committee of X" became the basis for the I.S.A., so Flame Club is rightly called "the mother of the Independent Student Association." In 1941 a revitalized Flame Club became an active political force feared far and wide among organized politicians; and their red and white "beanies" were born in battle — actual physical combat ensuing between Flame and Sphinx men over the hats.

Each year a small number of outstanding junior or senior unorganized men are rewarded with membership to the Flame. Scholarship and activities leadership, as well as good fellowship and loyalty to our university, are the characteristics of a Flame Club man.

The Independent Students' Association, an organization of about six hundred members, is an organization for nonfraternity and non-sorority students on the Indiana University campus. It is one of the most powerful student organizations in numbers, and it has the ability to be strong in campus elections.

The social program of the I.S.A. includes dances, parties, and hayrides. The program also includes dancing classes which are held weekly for the benefit of students who are not good dancers. The I.S.A. mixers, which are held near the beginning of each semester, do much to get new students acquainted. The I.S.A. has an expanding social and political program which will make it one of the most prominent organizations on campus.

Prominent in every phase of campus activity are the handful of senior women who wear the small black-and-gold cap-and-tassel pin of Mortar Board.

Mortar Board, a national honorary for senior women, was established at Indiana University in 1921. Each year a small group of junior women who have excelled and will continue to excel in the three ideals of "leadership, scholarship, and service" are capped by the retiring chapter.

Mortar Board's best known campus function is the Dames Ball, the annual turnabout affair at which coeds pay the bills for one of the gayest evenings of the year.

Among its many services to the University, Mortar Board compiles and distributes a tutor list, supplies University calendars, and sponsors a recognition tea for outstanding sophomore women. A new project begun this year is the purchase and rental of art prints to dormitory women for their own rooms.

Founded a little over a year ago, the Indiana University Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People now has a membership of well over five hundred students. Of these, approximately four fifths are white and one fifth are colored. The broad aim of the organization is to eliminate all discrimination based upon race, creed, or color, and to help procure the rights of full citizenship for all Americans. More specifically, the group is trying to build better race relationships on the campus through interracial and intercultural education and activities. Along these lines, the N.A.A.C.P. has sponsored book-reviews, panel discussions, and nationally known speakers. Two ministers, Dr. Mordecai W. Johnson and the Reverend U. S. Robinson, gave talks on the campus last semester at the invitation of the N.A.A.C.P. The organization also helped its members become active on the Student Council, Panhellenic, Flame Club, the interfraternity Council, and other groups. One of its most important activities was financing a scholarship to be given once a year to the Negro student with the highest academic standing. The N.A.A.C.P. is now redoubling its efforts to alleviate the housing and eating problems. In brief, the N.A.A.C.P. is setting an example of practicing democracy on the campus.

Pamarada recognizes outstanding campus leaders among independent upperclasswomen and as a medium of expression in campus affairs, aims to present more clearly the view and position of independent women students. Members of Pamarada may be distinguished by their white berets with blue initials.

Although it was founded scarcely more than four years ago, Pamarada has become well known on campus through its varied activities. Pamarada this year sponsored the Freshman Tea at the beginning of the fall semester to acquaint new students with campus activities, and entertained outstanding independent sophomore women at the Sophomore Recognition Tea.

New members were announced at the annual Well House Waltz, which is given in collaboration with Flame Club. Members enjoyed informal "get-togethers" at picnics, basketball games, or other school functions.

The coeds who wear the blue hats with golden wings are members of Pleiades, upperclasswomen's social honorary. The organization is made up of representatives from the sororities. A girl is chosen for membership in Pleiades for her prominence in activities and social life and her ability as a leader within her sorority. Pledging of new members is announced twice a year, at the Homecoming Pow-Wow in the fall and at the Junior Prom in the spring.

Pleiades exists to provide a better fellowship among the girls of the various groups represented. Members promote school spirit by helping to lead parades before football rallies. This year's group began a traditional Golden Wings Ball, in keeping with Pleiades' aim to foster social life on the campus. Each year the organization sponsors two scholarships which are given to outstanding women students.

Sigma Iota is a sophomore honorary society limited to thirty independent men who have distinguished themselves by their scholarship, leadership in extracurricular activities, service to the school, and character during their freshman year.

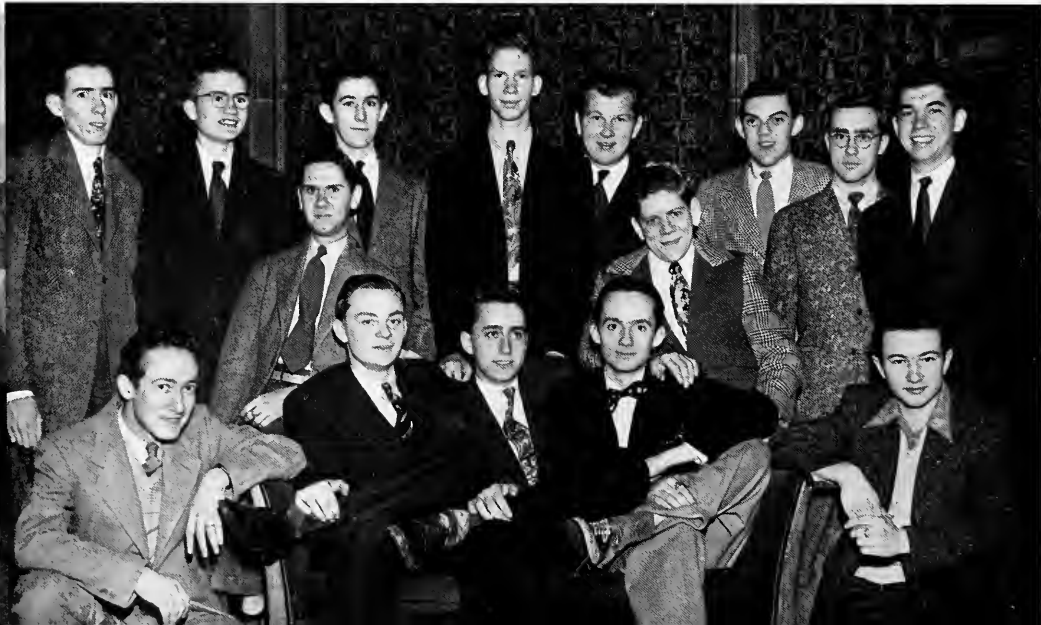

During the war, it was impossible for the organization to maintain all of its membership. As a result, this honorary fraternity was forced to limit its activities and expenditures during the first semester to those which would contribute to strengthening and reorganizing it. The constitution was revised and new hats, keys, and membership certificates were obtained. Thirteen new pledges were initiated; there was an excellent banquet, and the group made a vigorous campaign in the Homecoming Queen contest.

Fourteen pledges were initiated at the start of the second semester and were honored by a banquet. Before the annual Sweetheart Ball sponsored by Sigma Iota and Blue Crest on April 13, another formal banquet was held for Sigma Iota members and their dates. The Ball was well attended with Dennis Harold and his orchestra furnishing the music. Two stag parties for the members only completed the semester's social activities.

The Sphinx Club is a national honorary club for upperclassmen established to give recognition to outstanding men in the various university activities. Its membership is selected from the athletic, social, political, and fraternal fields of society. Each September and February the Sphinx selects its members from the junior class and these members retain their active membership through their senior year.

Activities of the club this year included the sponsorship of the annual Homecoming decorations on Homecoming Day and the promotion of the Tablewaiters Ball.

With the symbol of the Sphinx as their guide the members of the club will retain its high standards and traditions to the best of their ability in order that the national reputation of "the most honorable of honoraries" may be justly claimed and universally recognized. To this end the Sphinx Club is dedicated and to this end its members will always strive.

Highest student legislative and judicial organization at Indiana University, the Student Council coordinates the activities of all other student governing bodies, formulates and enforces rules concerning the student body, and works with the University administration on all matters affecting the students. Membership consists of three organized and three independent men, and three organized and three independent women, elected annually by the student body.

Reconversion to a peacetime campus has been the main theme of this year's activity. On the Council's recommendation, the traditional free day after a victorious Purdue game was revived. New and reactivated organizations (Top Hat, Skull and Crescent, Falcon, and Labor Club) assumed places on campus upon Council's approval of their constitutions. Adjustments were made in senior elections and other campus affairs to meet the needs of veterans.

In December the Council recommended that physical education be placed on a voluntary, rather than compulsory, basis. It created a special student commission to publicize and stimulate attendance at convocations, and prepared and distributed to incoming freshmen a booklet explaining their part in Student Government. The installation of a course in marriage relationships, and a system of faculty rating are two more projects under investigation.

The council is maintaining its fine record of service to the campus and efficient government of the student body.

The girls wearing the white pods with the green "T" on them are members of the youngest women's hat organization on campus, Tophets, a social honorary for organized sophomore women.

Tophets was founded in the spring of 1945 by sixteen sophomore girls representing each sorority on campus. The girls decided to draw up the constitution for an organization that would help the sophomore women to participate in campus activities. In the fall of 1945, two more girls were selected from each sorority to become members. The girls chosen were the ones who had participated in activities as freshmen, and show potential leadership and scholastic ability.

Tophets and Skull and Crescent jointly entertained their members at an initiation banquet last fall. These two organizations selected the "Sweater Girl" and "Joe Boy" of the sophomore class to reign at their informal dance in December.

The most imposing structure on the campus is the Memorial Union Building, the center of the student activities.

Governing all the events which take place within the building is the Union Board composed of ten students, Mr. Lyman C. Smith, director of the Union, and Dean Robert Bates. The Board meets every Tuesday night during the semester in a special room on the top floor of the tower, and plans the functions for the coming weeks.

The aim of the Union is to provide entertainment for all the students in the University. It endeavors to do this by sponsoring such activities as the Record Hour, the Town Hall Discussions, the grid-graph, chess and billiard tournaments, pep sessions, and open houses following the home football games. This year the Union Board and the A.W.S. Council tried to sponsor at least one dance a week in Alumni Hall.

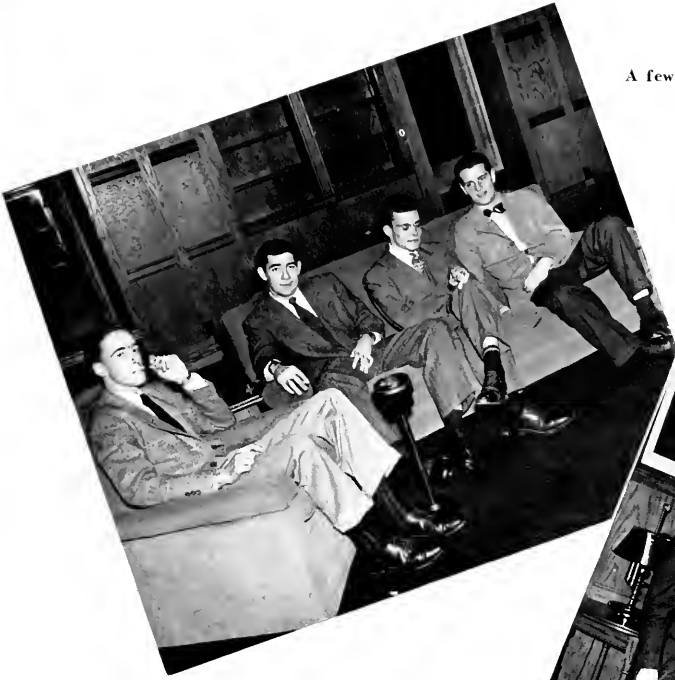

Due to the great increase in enrollment which is anticipated at I.U., the Union Board is planning to widen the scope of its activities and provide more entertainment for the greater number of students.

The Falcons are back! The Falcon Club, which had its founding on this campus in April of 1941, is again functioning in full stride. Inactive during the war, the club is again striving for the principles on which the organization was founded which are as follows: to promote a mutual friendship among the members of the organization and the student body as a whole; to revive forgotten and dying traditions; and to back all pep sessions and rallies sponsored by the various participating groups. Each year a fund is turned over to a worthy university cause.

The policy of the organization is to keep the honorary entirely free from the political aspect which is so prevalent in many organizations which are in operation at the present time.

The members of this sophomore and junior honorary can be distinguished on campus by their black and white banded pods.

The function of the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation is to create a home-like atmosphere for all Jewish students of Indiana University. Hence the title so frequently attached to it — "a home away from home."

Hillel offers innumerable opportunities for recreation, intellectual gatherings, and general boresing sessions. Among its distinctive features are the Friday night service conducted in the chapel, the annual Razz Banquet, and the Stunt Show. In connection with the maintenance of cultural projects, Hillel sponsors a series of forums which deal with contemporary problems of Judaism as well as topics of national, social, and educational significance. Several members of the faculty have given lectures which were of great interest to the student body.

It would hardly be right to omit mention of the excellent collection of popular and classical records, the library with its best-sellers and reference books, the overcrowded recreation room, and the magazine rack with all the latest periodicals. Students of other faiths are always welcome to share the facilities of the Hillel House on Third Street.

“Every woman in the University world today, a leader in the Church of tomorrow” is the aim of Kappa Phi, national organization for Methodist college girls. The local chapter, Alpha Beta, is entering its eighth year at Indiana University, with a membership of more than a hundred girls.

The activities of the club include discussions, speakers, and devotional programs. Its members work in cooperation with the Wesley Foundation for their annual banquet, and also are in charge of the Foundation’s vesper service at Christmas and Easter time. Picnics, teas, and banquets head the list of social activities of the group.

It has been traditional for Kappa Phi to entertain underprivileged children with a party at Christmas. Each year the Kappa Phi girls plan a retreat at McCormick’s Creek State Park for a week end of fun and fellowship.

The Newman Club at Indiana University is a club of Catholic culture and Catholic fellowship. It is one of 500 such Catholic clubs in the United States and Canada. It is organized and kept alive in order to help deepen the spiritual lives of its members, to weld the Catholic students into a closer union, and to assist the University in its activities whenever possible. Each Newman Club has a Chaplain for the spiritual guidance and assistance of the members.

The first Newman Club was formed at the University of Pennsylvania in 1893. Encouraged by Catholic Bishops, the idea soon spread to other campuses. Today every large university and college has a Newman club. Activities range from Group Communion, lectures, and study clubs, to picnics, parties, and dances.

STUDENT RELIGIOUS CABINET

All major religious traditions on the campus are accepted in the Cabinet's membership and its representatives associate not as members of any particular denomination, which they all are, but as students interested in the total campus program of religion.

By finding a common basis of action and good will they are able to do collectively many of the things they could not do individually and their solidarity helps to raise the status of religion on the campus.

Their program is one of fellowship, cooperation, and group sponsorship of campus religious programs.

The Wesley Foundation, located at the First Methodist Church in Bloomington, has been serving the needs of students for the past thirty years. At the present time it has a very broad program which endeavors to fill the needs of Methodist and Methodist preference students both religiously and socially.

A very large percent of all Methodists on campus this year have had some association with Wesley. Its main program is "Dine-a-mite" every Sunday evening at 5:15. At that time there is a chance to get acquainted with a fine group of Christian students. Supper is served and there is always good entertainment at the tables. The program is concluded with a Vesper service in the main sanctuary of the church.

Other activities of Wesley Foundation have included many and varied parties, a community service project on the west side of town, a well-attended University Class on Sunday mornings, and many deputation teams which have visited surrounding churches.

We have endeavored to make "a-church-home-away-from-home" for Methodist students, but all students who have come have been welcomed.

WESTMINSTER INN

Through the years hundreds of students have found lasting friends and stimulating contacts in the program and activities of the Westminster Inn.

The Inn is open every afternoon and night. Students drop in between and after classes to read, play records or Ping-pong, or to meet their friends. Week-end retreats at state park camps, parties and picnics have an important place in the year-round program of the Inn. However, in the background there is an earnest purpose. Through worship, Bible study, discussion groups and the help of outstanding speakers, the Inn offers to college men and women, who think religion is important, an opportunity to strengthen Christian faith and to grow in Christian experience.

Outstanding as an organization since its founding on the campus in 1891, the "Y" has numerous activities. Besides offering many opportunities for leadership training, the Christian fellowship offers the students religious education, social training, and political and business experience.

The "Y" is governed by a senior cabinet under the guidance of an Advisory Board composed of the University faculty and townsmen.

After a wartime drop in membership and activity, the "Y," strengthened by returning veterans, has renewed its program of wide and varied activities such as a Boys' Club Work on Pigeon Hill, sponsoring outstanding speakers such as Dr. Roy A. Burkhardt's well attended talk on marriage and publication of the Campus Directory and the RED BOOK. Along with the Y.W.C.A. the "Y" sponsors the Freshman Frolic, the All-University Sing, discussion groups, public affairs lectures, mixer dances, Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter religious services and other activities.

Y. W. C. A.

Since 1887, the Y.W.C.A. has been a leading organization for Indiana University Coeds, aiding each member in realizing a complete and creative life by contributing, as a group, to society on campus, in the community and the world. Its members have been engaged in offering their services to the youth of Bloomington as club leaders and to the students of the world through the successful World Student Service Fund drive conducted in February.

For Indiana University's own students, Y.W.C.A. has fulfilled their religious needs in both holiday worship services and weekly vespers. Its members have added to the social calendar by planning and presenting the Freshman Frolic with the cooperation of the Y.M.C.A. Through its various committees and general meetings, Y.W.C.A. has encouraged strong religious faith, friendship, and co-operation in campus affairs.

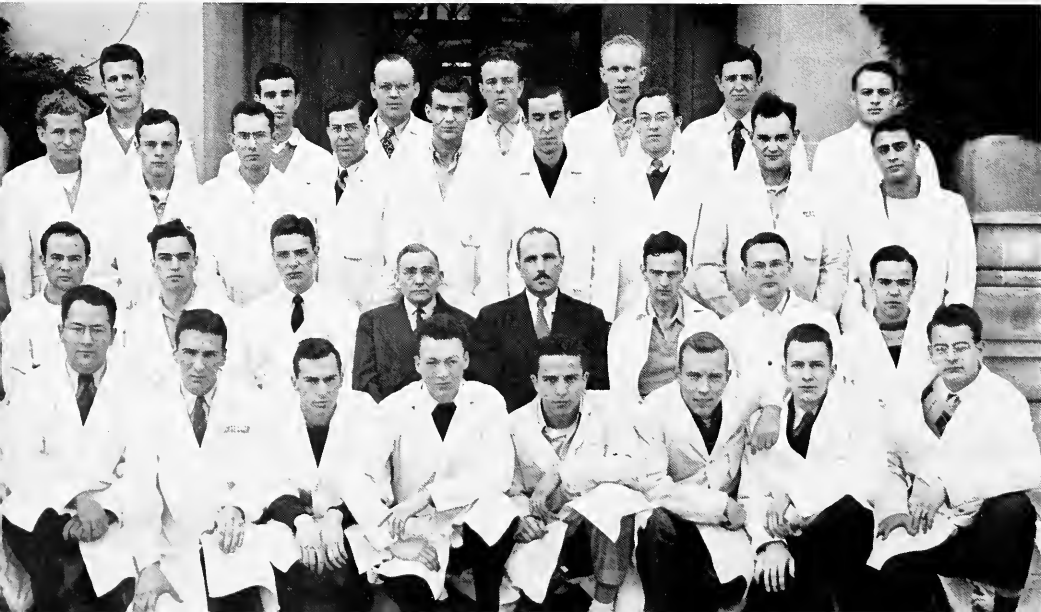

Historically, the Phi Chi Medical fraternity is the union of the northern and southern branches of the fraternity. The northern branch of Phi Chi was founded in 1889 in the Medical College at the University of Vermont. The organization of the southern branch occurred in 1894 in Louisville, Kentucky. On February 26, 1903, Mu of Phi Chi was given a charter, becoming a member of the southern branch. They are the recipients of the tenth charter issued by that branch of the Phi Chi Medical fraternity. On March 5, 1905, the two branches were consolidated. Mu of Phi Chi now has a membership roster of over 700 men, including some of the most prominent doctors in the medical circles.

The activities of this fraternity have been varied. A banquet was given at Boxman's in September. Later a men's mixer in the form of a social was held at the Union building. A large number of pledges enjoyed a hayride which provided needed relaxation. Initiation of the new pledges was held in March.

PUBLICATIONS

The history of I.U. is faithfully recorded in its newspaper, its yearbook, and its magazines. All the different slants represent a typical university.

THE INDIANA DAILY STUDENT is published five days a week by students of the journalism department. They collect and edit local and national news under the faculty supervision of John E. Stempel, J. Wymond French and Walter Steigleman.

Work on the ARBUTUS begins in the summer and extends through spring of the following year. All the positions are held by students. The ARBUTUS Board of Control passes upon decisions and partially formulates the policies. Members are E. Ross Bartley, C. J. Black, John Stempel, J. Wymond French, L. L. Fisher, Robert E. Burton, Walter Steigleman, and J. Edward Hedges.

The FOLIO is a monthly magazine of student contributions with a student staff. Faculty advisor for the literary magazine is Mr. Hugh Jansen.

Each year THE RED BOOK is published under the direction of the Y.M.C.A. Stanley Steckler edited the 1945-46 edition and Glen Graves edited the supplement.

The PANHELLENIC RUSH GUIDE, which is sent to all Freshman women planning to go through rush, was edited by Alicia Smith and Beebe Hawkins.

THE CHIMES, published by the Y.W.C.A., acquaints Freshman women with the University and its main organizations.

Paste-up time is a sure sign that the current ARBUTUS is on its way to the printers and that the deadline will be met. The groundwork has taken place long ago: contracts have been signed, circulation boosted, and pictures taken. The dummy is the result of the efforts of both the editorial and the business staffs. The 1946 ARBUTUS was made in a small room on the third floor of the Union amid debris from paste jars, carbons, mailing labels, and trimmings from pictures. It was first planned in the editor's mind and then received numerous modifications after advice from the printer and the engraver.

Bonnie Hodges, editor in chief, coordinated all activities and headed the editorial staff. Business manager, Mary Edith Jamison worried about contracts, receipts, and budgets. Associate business manager Ginger Shipp and office manager Maxine McGovern spent many long hours among the typewriters and telephones of 312. Managing editor Beebe Hawkins was responsible for coordinating the copy which came into the office. And months before the first book came off the press, Joan Grabhorn had planned the circulation campaigns and threatened people during registration. Behind it all were the freshman and sophomore staffs which did a thousand jobs.

Getting an assignment

A few late flashes via Mr. Stemple

The world's greatest college daily THE INDIANA DAILY STUDENT, survived the critical war years through the unstinted devotion and loyalty of women in journalism. Where once women were allowed to speak only in loud whispers, with the outbreak of hostilities the fairer sex quickly moved to the driver's seat and stayed there for three years.

Rudy Hamilton was appointed editor in chief in September 1945 for the first nine weeks. Dee Harrington sat in the editor's chair the rest of the semester. More and more men trickled back to the sacred portals of THE DAILY STUDENT building.

The second semester of the 1945-1946 school year opened with Ed Sovola in the editor's chair which was surrounded by discarded lipstick tubes, bent bobby pins, and slivers of nail polish.

The aftermath of the female occupation was soon swept clean. Size 11 brogues appeared on the editor's desk. Heavy voices rose above the din of clattering typewriters.

Still depending somewhat on the fair sex, THE DAILY STUDENT did, nevertheless, make its appearance on the overcrowded campus the morning of February 12, 1946, in the guiding hands of men.

The battle on the press front was over!

Proofreading department

Now completing its tenth year of existence, the FOLIO is Indiana University's literary magazine. Edited by students, written by students, and sold by students, the FOLIO affords to Indiana's student body not only an opportunity to see its literary effort in print along with the occasional contributions of noncampus professional and outstanding amateur writers, but also some very real experience in the editing and management of a near-professional magazine. To its art staff, the FOLIO offers practical knowledge of illustrating and cartooning.

Proudly the present staff members recall that from the ranks of their predecessors, the staff members and contributors of the past ten years, have come two playwrights, three editors of trade journals, several successful journalists, at least two commercial artists, at least four radio writers, several advertising copy writers, and at least one promising novelist. The staff feels confident that the record will be continued, for it now includes one successful professional feature writer in its ranks and rejoices in two other professional writers among its present contributors.

In short, the FOLIO is, in a way, a club for the students who are carrying on Indiana's literary traditions.

SIGMA DELTA CHI

Reactivated last spring after more than three years of dormancy because of World War II, the Indiana Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, honorary professional journalism fraternity, pledged and initiated four men in May, 1945.

As a part of 1945 Homecoming activities, with only the four members, Sigma Delta Chi put on its 44th Blanket Hop, oldest traditional annual dance on campus, with overwhelming success. Proceeds from the dance are used to purchase "I" blankets for graduating athletes.

In an effort to get back to prewar normalcy as quickly as possible, Sigma Delta Chi is re-establishing on campus such traditions as the Gridiron Banquet, modeled after the Washington Press Club's famous dinner; a state high-school newspaper contest, and the awarding of a scholarship to some prominent sophomore journalist each year.

Sigma Delta Chi was founded at DePauw University in 1909, and the local chapter was established in 1914 from the University Press Club. Returning war veterans have increased substantially the number of Sigma Delta Chi members now on campus.

Junior and senior women in journalism are eligible for membership in Theta Sigma Phi, honorary professional organization. A pen point tied with violet and green ribbons is the pledge insignia. Seven girls were pledged in the fall, with another group joining the national honorary in the spring.

In addition to conducting a subscription campaign for THE DAILY STUDENT at the beginning of each semester, members joined this year with Sigma Delta Chi, journalism honorary for men, as cosponsors of the campus drive for contributions to the Ernie Pyle Memorial Fund.

Theta Sigs are active on the staff of THE DAILY STUDENT, with Dee Harrington, Ruth Ann Hamilton, Mary Monroe, and Joanne Whiteneck as former editors in chief; Alicia Smith, Margaret Earl McConnel, and Peggy Visser as night editors, and Mildred Wyatt as managing editor. Emily Squires, Toby Treger, and Mrs. Marge Dubina worked on the business staff.

Theta Sigma Phi members and other staff workers acted as honorary ushers at the premiere of "G. I. Joe," Ernie Pyle's story of the war, in Indianapolis.

A Razz Banquet, traditional dinner to "honor" prominent women on campus, was scheduled for the second semester. Later the Matrix Table was planned to bring an outstanding speaker to the campus.

THE THEATER

As the curtain went down on Iphigenia in Tauris the Indiana University Theater completed its one hundred and twenty-fourth production, since its founding in 1930. The University Theater has been active off campus this year presenting monthly variety shows to Army Service Clubs and Hospitals. It opened the season with the rollicking comedy Kiss and Tell which was presented for the second time at popular request. The first production was given during the summer session. Uncle Harry a psychological drama, was the second play of the new season. Noel Coward's farce about the bewildered husband and the ghost of his first wife was cleverly presented in The Blithe Spirit. For the fourth production, Indiana was a pioneer in the experimental theaters by being the first educational theater to produce any part of Eugene O'Neill's Mourning Becomes Electra. Paul Vincent Carroll's dramatic story The White Steed was given in February. Following this drama the theater turned to a lighter vein and presented the campus talent in the annual variety show, The Jordan River Revue, revived after three years. Autumn Crocus opened in April and Iphigenia in Tauris, a Greek tragedy, closed the season which was one of the best and fullest with eight full-length productions. The University Theater is under the direction of Dr. Lee Norvelle assisted by V. A. Smith, Gary Gaiser, Orvin Larson, and Darrell Ross.

Theta Alpha Phi, national dramatic honorary, was founded in Chicago in 1919. Indiana Alpha Chapter was organized at Indiana University in 1922. Professor Lee R. Norvelle, head of the Speech Department who is National President of Theta Alpha Phi, is sponsor of the group.

The aim of the fraternity is to participate in and encourage all types of dramatic work in the University. On play programs Theta Alpha Phi members of the cast are designated by an asterisk. After each production, Theta Alpha Phi awards recognition of merit to nonmembers who have done outstanding work.

At the end of each school year, Theta Alpha Phi presents awards to the best actors and actresses in University Theatre. The various chapters of the organization alternate in editing a monthly magazine, Field Notes. Last year Indiana Alpha won a tuition scholarship for its issue of Field Notes. This was awarded to Suzanne Reeder.

Qualifications for membership are a sophomore standing, good scholastic average, and roles in plays combined with work in various aspects of play production.

UNIVERSITY THEATER BUSINESS STAFF

Although they never appear behind the footlights, the University Theatre Business Staff plays an indispensable behind-the-scenes part in each theatre play. They are responsible for the practical business management that makes the production a financial success.

The staff, under the direction of Ruth Ann Hamilton, senior business manager, is divided into three committees: advertising, publicity, and tickets. Each is headed by a junior manager and consists of three sophomore members. Their work includes selling advertising space in the theatre programs, distributing posters, planning newspaper publicity, arranging usher staffs, and selling tickets.

Staff members are chosen from applications each spring by the senior manager and the head of the Department of Speech on the basis of work the previous year and by recommendation of the managers.

UNIVERSITY CONCERT BAND

The busiest musical organizations on the campus are the bands. The University Concert Band, conducted by Gerald H. Doty, includes both men and women students. It has a well-filled season of concerts and radio programs and it reads a wide variety of band music, including a good many numbers in manuscript form.

Most of the men are also members of the R.O.T.C. band, which furnishes music for all formal military ceremonies. This band has been small due to the continual needs of the armed forces.

Indiana's famous "Marching Hundred" also has been a war casualty, but plans are under way to have this favorite attraction of the football season ready for the fall of 1946.

ARTS AND SCIENCES

The College of Arts and Sciences is the nucleus of the University. If we pass over the primary stage of the University's history, the College of Arts and Sciences, then called the College of Liberal Arts, may be said to have begun in 1828 with the chartering of the institution as the Indiana College. The departmental organization of the College was made in 1887. The name was changed from College of Liberal Arts to College of Arts and Sciences in 1921.

John W. Ashton assumed the position of Dean of the College in February, having come from the University of Kansas where he was chairman of the English Department. From June, 1945 to February, 1946, he was on leave of absence teaching at the Shrivensham American University in England. Dean Ashton, an authority on Shakespeare, graduated from Bates College in 1922 and received his Ph.D. from the University of Chicago.

PHI BETA KAPPA

For over a century and a half, election to Phi Beta Kappa has been a recognition of intellectual capacities well employed, especially in the acquiring of an education in the liberal arts and sciences. Because of the remarkably high proportion of famous names on the roll of Phi Beta Kappa, admission to its ranks may reasonably be held to indicate also potentialities of future distinction.

Phi Beta Kappa was founded on December 5, 1776, at the College of William and Mary, in Williamsburg, Virginia. It was the first Greek letter society. At the present time it has 141 chapters with a total membership of 124,000, of whom 98,000 are living.

Gamma of Indiana Chapter was founded in 1911, and has a living membership of 1200. Elections of students as members in course are held in the spring and in the fall. The highest ten percent of the candidates for the A.B. degree who have completed at least two full years of work in residence at Indiana University are eligible for election.

CLASSICAL CLUB

The purpose of the Classical Club is to promote fun and fellowship among students interested in the classics. The only qualification for membership is an interest in Greek, Latin, Roman history, or art. Meetings are social, for the most part, although a few speakers are scheduled each year. Business meetings are held at noon in the Colonial Tea Room.

The high light of the year's activities is the Roman Banquet, at which time students revert to the "Roman way of life." Another annual social function is the Spring Picnic. This year also included a Halloween scavenger hunt.

The Classical Club sponsored a booth at the A.W.S. Freshman Carnival from which an oracle foretold the future success of the club. Thirty-five new members were signed up. Mr. Verne B. Schuman is the faculty advisor.

The English Club has as one of its main objectives to help students and faculty become better acquainted. Some of the meetings were held in faculty homes, and the program committee tried to have both faculty and students participate in each program.

Richard G. Lillard, the club's faculty advisor last year, was on leave of absence; and Samuel Yellen of the English Department took over in this capacity.

The club had its annual get-together with members of the FOLIO staff to discuss creative writing. Members of the English Club had a booth in the A.W.S. carnival and stressed to the new students that membership is open to all who are interested in literature and wish to take part in the club's activities.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

"The way to a man's heart is through his stomach." This well-known saying is put to a great deal of use today, and points out one of the advantages of a home economics course. Although the great majority of home economics students will become homemakers soon after their graduation, a number of these young women are preparing themselves for a career.

The Home Economics Club is for students who are enrolled in, or are interested in, home economics courses.

Its objectives are to interpret home economics to the community, to stimulate fellowship among students in the department, to foster personal development, to work for the improvement of the department, and to stimulate professional growth.

The club boasts over ninety members this year and meetings are held on the second Tuesday of each month. Outstanding events in the program for the year included a Christmas banquet, a bazaar, and a coed clothing revue.

SPANISH CLUB

El Club Español has been in existence at Indiana University for several years, but formerly the members included only those juniors and seniors who were majoring in Spanish. This year its doors were opened to all who were sincerely interested in Spanish—freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors alike.

The primary purpose of the club is to promote Hispanic culture. To this end lectures and movies on Latin American life and customs, and Spanish plays and music are included in the bimonthly programs. The club also offers an opportunity for its members to converse in Spanish. Merle Simmons of the Spanish Department is the faculty advisor of the club.

Social activities included a tea in honor of Samuel Martinez, Mexican concert violinist.

The white frame building located in the heart of the campus is the home of Delta Tau Mu, informally known as Daubers Club. All of its activities center here. The club came to the campus in 1936 and recognizes students outstanding in studio art classes and recommended by members of the art staff. Admission is by club election.

Daubers' activities center around two events — a party given just before Christmas time, and the annual Spring Exhibit.

The party this year carried out a Greek theme. Guests arrived in appropriate Greek attire, and modernized Greek myths in skit form were presented by the faculty and active members of the group.

The annual Spring Exhibit shows work done in any medium by the club's members. Visitors vote for their favorite picture, piece of sculpture, or pottery; a prize is given for the most popular feature.

The club is under the sponsorship of Harry Engle.

SCHOOL OF BUSINESS

The backgrounds, principles and procedures of business techniques are the subjects of the business student. The student is given the opportunity to apply classroom knowledge to practical situations by taking internship with business concerns. After graduation, the Guidance and Placement Bureau is available for helping former students secure employment.

Arthur M. Weimer, dean of the school, received his degrees from Beloit College and the University of Chicago. He is consultant to the Indianapolis Real Estate Board and a director of the Railroadmen's Federal Savings and Loan Association.

The honor society of the School of Business is Beta Gamma Sigma. Extracurricular activities are the Collegiate Chamber of Commerce, Advertising Club, Management Club, and Accounting Club. The professional organizations are Delta Sigma Pi and Alpha Kappa Psi for men, and Omicron Delta and Chi Gamma for women.

ALPHA DELTA CHI

Alpha Delta Chi, formerly known as the Advertising Club, joined the ranks of the Greek letter honoraries on I.U.'s campus this year. The purposes of this organization are to further interest in the field of advertising and to aid deserving students in obtaining positions in the advertising world. For membership a "B+" average in advertising courses and a "C" average in academic courses are required.

Meetings are held twice a month and special programs are usually presented. In December, Mr. Don Sherwood, Associate News Editor of radio station WFBM in Indianapolis, spoke on "How Radio Sells."

Another important addition was made to the organization this year. A special key was designed for all Alpha Delta Chi members to wear.

Each spring a banquet and program are given to welcome all newly elected members. At this time the organization expresses its appreciation to Mr. Brooks Smeeton, faculty sponsor, for his assistance.

The Accounting Club, founded in 1938, is designed to establish and maintain a close fraternity among accounting students, alumni engaged in accounting work, the accounting faculty, and practicing accountants in this area. It holds regular discussions, usually led by a prominent practicing accountant who introduces the practical side of accounting to the students. Questionnaires and newsletters establish a definite contact with past graduates of the Accounting Department and hence act as a clearinghouse for these alumni. It also maintains a personal data file of student and alumnus members and issues an annual directory to all members.

The club's annual lecture series featured guest speakers, faculty speakers, moving pictures, and tours of plants. The social life of the meetings included short plays and refreshments.

ALPHA KAPPA PSI

Alpha Kappa Psi, a professional commerce fraternity, was founded at New York University in October, 1904. The Beta Gamma Chapter at Indiana University was installed April 5, 1927. Its aims are "to further the individual welfare of its members; to foster scientific research in the fields of commerce, accounts, and finance; to educate the public to appreciate and demand higher ideals therein, and to promote and advance institutions of college rank, courses leading to degrees in business administration."

Alpha Kappa Psi carries many activities during the year including: parties, smokers, dances, and joint meetings with other organizations.

Through the medium of its various alumni groups and members located throughout the country, Alpha Kappa Psi offers a permanent professional association with a selected group of college trained men. Along with this future association, on the Indiana University campus, Alpha Kappa Psi makes possible a means for the friendly and informal association of the students and faculty.

Membership of this organization is composed of all students in the School of Business. Activities are planned and managed by a board of directors which is composed of elected representatives of the student body.

Some of the purposes of the Collegiate Chamber of Commerce are to foster closer relationships between the students and the faculty, to promote among students a better understanding of the business world, and to provide training opportunities for future civic and business leaders.

This year the organization has sponsored several coffee hours with faculty and Indiana businessmen as guest speakers. A faculty rating system was created whereby each student rated each professor at the time they were studying under his instruction. The display cases in the B and E lobby were decorated by a committee and a board member. A squeak box was maintained for the purpose of seeking student "gripes" and acting upon them. The most important undertaking of this organization is the Careers' Conference held the first week end in May. Prominent industrial leaders and businessmen of the Midwest are guest speakers.

MANAGEMENT CLUB

The Management Club finished its sixth year of activities to acquaint students interested in the field of management with actual problems of the modern business world.

The club, under the capable leadership of Dr. Harold B. Baker, sponsored prominent speakers in the management field at its bi-monthly meetings.

Members of the Management Club have assisted and do assist in the conducting of projects and patronize a series of social functions which promote better fellowship among not only management majors but any School of Business students who are interested in management.

Due to the pressing need in our country for salesmen who will fit our economic scene, the Bowes-Indiana University Specialized Sales Training Course was inaugurated at I.U. through the untiring efforts of Professor Brooks Smeeton and the late Robert M. Bowes. Although this course is the first to be offered in a college, it is the founders' hope and ambition that it is but the forerunner of many more of its kind and that it will eventually lead to Salesmanship being offered in all colleges as a full curriculum major, and that Salesmanship will be raised to the level of other business professions.

After being thoroughly steeped in the lore and knowledge of Salesmanship, the members of this club organized as a body with the very intent in mind as that of Professor Smeeton.

Though we are now spread out again into the diverse corners of the world from which we assembled, and are started on careers which we hope will be successful to all, the aforementioned are our ideals and aims.

Omicron Delta was founded in 1938 by Kathryn Daubenspeck, a senior in the School of Business. She and a group of junior and senior women organized the sorority for the purpose of promoting the interests of future business and professional women; to stimulate local organization and cooperation among them, to gather and distribute information relative to vocational opportunities, to interest students in business and professional activities and ideals, and to further the progress of business through education.

The members of the group try to carry out their purpose with both a social and an instructional program and cooperate with the Collegiate Chamber of Commerce in many of its activities.

Mrs. Esther Bray is the faculty advisor for the organization and Mrs. A.L. Prickett, Miss Sarah Kirby, and Miss Lulu Westenhaver are the sponsors.

SCHOOL OF DENTISTRY

In 1879 the Indiana State Dental Association established the Indiana State Dental School. The state purchased the school in 1925, and it became the Indiana University School of Dentistry. Dr. Maynard K. Hine, who had been on the faculty one year prior to his appointment, was made dean in July, 1945. He received both his D.D.S. and his M.S. from the University of Illinois.

A preidental, or two-year fundamental course, is given at Indiana University. In Indianapolis the "dents" study four more years. There they have practice at the clinics in the Riley and Long Hospitals, the Children's Clinic, and the clinic at the school.

On the campus there are four national Greek letter fraternities: Alpha Omega, Delta Sigma Delta, Psi Omega, Xi Psi Phi. Omicron Kappa Upsilon, a national dental honorary fraternity, is represented by Theta Theta chapter. The ALUMNI BULLETIN, a quarterly publication, keeps alums informed about the school.

FRESHMAN DENTAL CLASS

At the beginning of this year, twenty students gathered to begin their studies in Dental School. They were all filled with ambitions to practice their chosen profession, but few had a clear conception of its scope or responsibilities. In a short time, however, these were clearly defined by the work of their professors.

Since the freshman year is composed primarily of fundamental subjects, a carefully planned course of prescribed studies has been arranged. Having completed these, the students now have a firm foundation on which to base their future schooling and professional life. In pursuance of the first year of the dental curricula, they have proved themselves to be industrious, studious, and intent upon further advancement. The knowledge already gained has increased their eagerness to learn the art and science of dentistry and their ambitions to practice their profession.

The class of '49 joined with the freshman medical class to stage a very successful Skeleton Club dance in January in Alumni Hall.

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

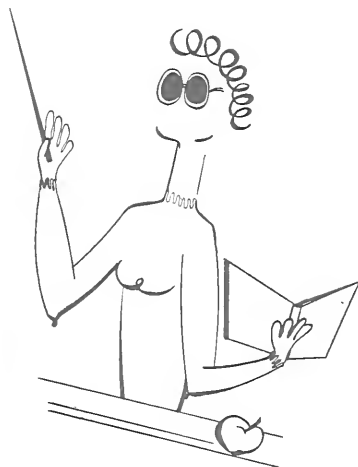

In this period following the war, the need for trained teachers has increased. The School of Education is well equipped to train men and women. The department must instruct research workers and directors of city and higher institutions, prepare graduates for work administration, perform experimental work in education and improve school practice.

In February, Henry L. Smith retired as Dean of the School of Education and was succeeded by Wendell W. Wright, formerly head of the Junior Division. Dean Smith received his A.B. and M.A. from Indiana University and his Ph.D. from Columbia before he became head of the School of Education, where he has remained for twenty-nine years. However, he will continue as a member of the faculty until September. Wendell W. Wright, the new dean, relinquished his post as head of the Junior Division and director of Veterans' Administration.

PI LAMBDA THETA

Senior and graduate women are eligible for election to membership in Pi Lambda Theta, national scholastic honorary for women in education. Bases for election are high scholarship, promise in the field of education, and the display of leadership.

Purposes of Pi Lambda Theta are: to foster professional spirit and to set and maintain the highest standards of scholarship and professional preparation; to work actively to further the cause of democratic education; to cooperate in the solution of problems which interpenetrate various fields of knowledge; to strive for a clear understanding of local, state, national, and international problems and to stimulate active participation in their solution, and to develop a professional fellowship among women engaged in education. Mrs. E. W. Arnett is alumnae advisor for the organization.

SCHOOL OF LAW

The aim of the School of Law is to provide a well-rounded education in the science of law, and its leading purposes are threefold: to enable the student to build up, by study and discussion of cases and statutes, and organized knowledge of the principles of law; to train him in the habit of legal analysis of concrete problems; and to develop in him a keen sense of professional ideals.

The Indiana University School of Law is the oldest of the state university law schools in the Middle West. The School of Law was founded in 1842, but legislative action in 1877 caused suspension of the school for twelve years.

The Dean of the Law School, Bernard C. Gavit, was appointed in June, 1933. His degrees come from Wabash College and the University of Chicago Law School. In January, 1946, he was elected again as secretary-treasurer of the American Association of Law Schools.

PHI DELTA PHI

The international legal fraternity of Phi Delta Phi was founded in 1869 at the University of Michigan. Phi Delta Phi is the oldest of professional fraternities in America. Foster Inn, the Indiana University chapter of Phi Delta Phi was established in 1900. Membership in Phi Delta Phi is open to law students who have been unanimously elected by the members of Phi Delta Phi, and whose scholastic standings have met the approval of the faculty of the School of Law. The purposes of Phi Delta Phi are to promote scholastic endeavor in legal education, to further the ethical and moral principles of law and justice, and to instill in its members the high sense of duty. Phi Delta Phi maintains a room on the third floor of the Union Building where biweekly meetings are held, also sponsors an annual smoker for the entire student body and faculty of the School of Law.

SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

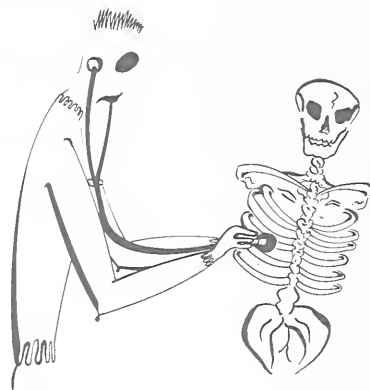

The I.U. medics were instructed on a full-time schedule this year. Students in the various schools of the Medical Center worked for degrees as doctors, nurses, and medical technicians. In spite of the loss of seventy-five members of the faculty to the armed forces, the best traditions of the medical profession have been upheld.

Dean of the school, since 1931, is Dr. W.D. Gatch who received his A.B. from Indiana in 1901 and his M.D. in 1907 from Johns Hopkins. Prior to his appointment as Dean of the School of Medicine, Dr. Gatch was connected with the Johns Hopkins Hospitals and was resident surgeon at Washington University for one year. Besides his membership in the American Medical Association, he belongs to the American College of Surgeons.

The Center has also helped the State Board of Health as well as the Student Health Department at Bloomington.

Nu Sigma Nu's pledge class of September, 1945, will be the first since the beginning of the war to be able to complete medical school on a peacetime schedule. Although this freshman medical class was the smallest for a number of years, Nu Sig was able to maintain its prestige by an ample membership.

Social activities were continued on a prewar basis even though the class was still on an accelerated schedule. Together with the Indianapolis membership, parties were held both at Bloomington and Indianapolis with a large representation of practicing physicians, also Nu Sigs, present.

Movies and various talks upon medical and related topics highlighted the first two semesters of the youngest Nu Sig class.

The Skeleton Club, the smallest for a number of years, consisted of eighty-two members. This small class, however, revived the old Med-Law football brawl, which had been discontinued due to the war's call for law students. Although the losers, the tradition is in to stay.

Other traditions were revived such as the crashing of the gates at the annual homecoming game. The war customs were continued, as well as the annual Cadaver Ball with its freshman queen reigning.

A financial program made it possible to provide a gift for the medical building, as well as a note of sentiment for the first civilian medical class for a number of years to remember in future years.

Lambda Nu is now in its second year as a campus organization. The club, mainly a freshman organization, is for all Prenursing students and is sponsored by Professor Frances Orgain, Director of Nursing Education, and by the R.N. Club.

The purposes of the club are to bring about greater unity and mutual helpfulness among prenursing students and to promote the highest educational and social standards of students on campus. This year the members chose their emblem to be a Florence Nightingale candle of blue and white.

Nursing education movies, talks by graduate nurses, and parties are programs for the meetings. A tour of an Indianapolis hospital was also planned.

The Registered Nurses' Club was organized in 1937 to further social and professional activities. Active membership of the R.N. Club is comprised of registered nurses doing resident work on the campus and honorary members. Nurses enrolled in the School of Education are working for the Bachelor of Science degree. The present curricula on the Indiana campus consists of work in public health nursing, hospital administration and supervision, and teaching in schools of nursing.

The R.N. Club has a membership of twenty-three nurses. Meetings of the R.N. Club are held once a month. Advancements in the professional field of nursing are discussed, and social activities supplement the professional atmosphere. Lambda Nu, the prenursing students' club, has assisted in social and professional activities.

Frances Orgain, sponsor of the R.N. Club, is Assistant Professor of Nursing Education, and Director of Nursing Education.

The purpose of this club is to bring about a greater unity and mutual helpfulness among registered nurses on the campus, and to promote the highest educational and social standards of University life.

MUSIC

SCHOOL OF MUSIC

Although one of the younger schools on campus, the School of Music is by no means in the shadow of the limelight. Robert L. Sanders, who holds degrees from Bush Conservatory, the American Academy at Rome, and the Chicago Conservatory of Music, has been Dean of the School since 1938. Under his leadership, the school has continued to develop. Since 1921, when the Department of Music became the School of Music, music teachers of distinction have been added to the faculty and varied curricula have been organized.

Completed in 1936, the music building stands on the southeast corner of the campus. Among its features are a large recital hall, an excellent library to further research in various fields of music, and several practice rooms, studios and classrooms. Courses of interest and value to all students are offered by the School of Music as one phase of liberal education.

Alpha Mu Omega is the departmental music club which received its present name in October, 1943, and was formerly known as the "Pre-Music Club." All candidates for membership must be in the School of Music, of at least Sophomore standing, and have a C average. Three of its objectives are: to bind together the members and faculty of the Music School, to recognize and honor students of high scholastic ability and musicianship, and to encourage them in furthering their talents.

Alpha Mu Omega's present sponsors are Miss Margaret Sisson and Dr. Thurber Madison, both of the Music School.

The club sponsored various extracurricular activities of the Music School. An all Music School Halloween Party was cosponsored with the faculty and Sigma Alpha Iota. In May they sponsored the annual Indiana University Composer's Forum. Also special music recitals were promoted during the year.

SIGMA ALPHA IOTA

Sigma Alpha Iota is a national professional women's music fraternity choosing its members on the basis of fine musicianship and high scholarship.

Iota Epsilon Chapter was installed at Indiana University in 1939 and has since actively engaged in annually sponsoring a Faculty-Student get-acquainted reception, in presenting guest artists, in giving monthly musicales, and for the past two years has planned All-American Contemporary Composers' Programs of unusual and new music having only members of S.A.I. as performers.

Its aims are to promote and dignify the musical profession for women; to further the development of music in America; and to raise the standards of production in music among women students in various universities, colleges, and conservatories.

DEAN BATES

Dr. Robert Ellery Bates was named associate Dean of Men and assistant professor of geology at Indiana University in 1941. After a leave of absence for military service, during which time he served as Major, he returned this fall to take over the duties of Dean of Men.

Both his A.B. and his A.M. were awarded to Dean Bates by Indiana University. From 1932 to 1936 he was a graduate student and assistant in geology at Columbia University and obtained his Ph.D. there in 1939. The same year Dr. Bates was appointed Dean of Students at Western Reserve and in 1941 he resigned his position as Dean of Adelbert College for Men at Western Reserve when he received his appointment to Indiana University.

He is a member of Sigma Chi, Sigma Xi, the American Geophysical Union, and Sigma Delta Psi. Dr. Bates is the son of Professor Emeritus Frank G. Bates who served on the Indiana University faculty from 1912 to 1939.

In December, 1945, a new office under the Dean of Men was created to handle inquiries concerning housing of men students. Miss Dottie Lackey, Indiana University '39 was appointed to take over these duties. A former physical education instructor at Indiana University, Miss Lackey is also a counsellor in the Women's Residence Halls.

As secretary to three deans, Mrs. Sare has become a familiar and welcome figure at her desk in the Dean of Men's office. For the past seventeen years she has assisted Dean Edmundson, Dean Thornbury and Dean Bates with the various problems which have come under their supervision.

INTERFRATERNITY PLEDGE COUNCIL

The Interfraternity Pledge Council was established primarily to foster better relations among the Greek letter organizations.

This year under the able guidance of Mr. Chum Bucher, the sponsor, the Pledge Council held several informal smokers at which pledges of all the fraternities endeavored to get acquainted with each other. On January 5, the Pledge Prom, sponsored by the Fraternity and Sorority Pledge Councils jointly, was held in Alumni Hall. The traditional Pod Burning was held in the spring. This is the time when all freshmen — much to their satisfaction — burn their pods.

The Interfraternity Pledge Council, although a relatively new organization, is now taking a leading part in pledge affairs.

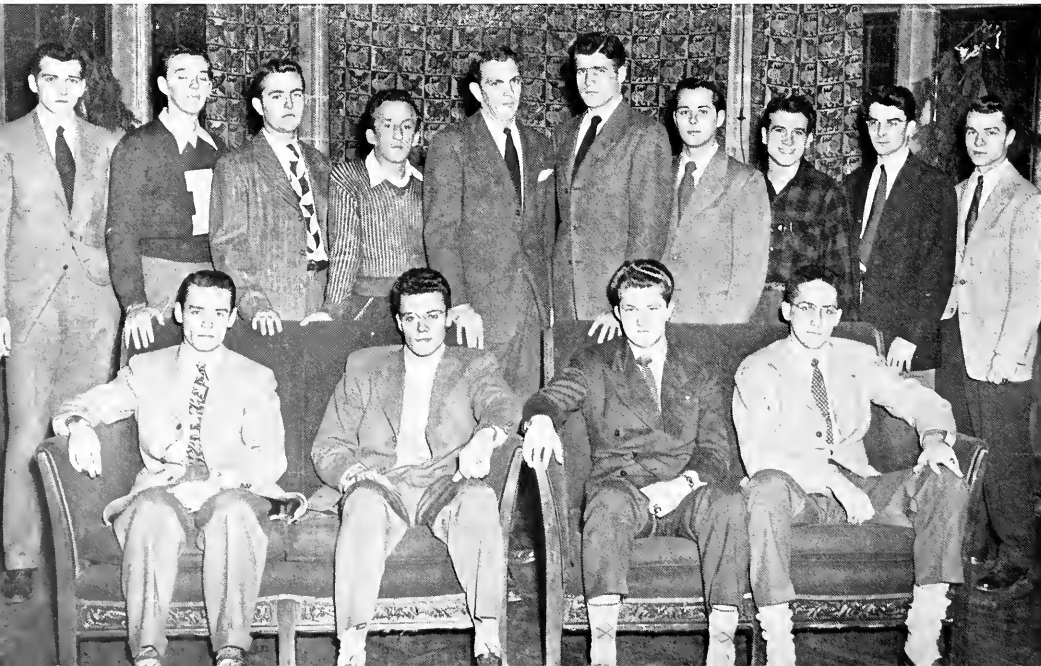

The Interfraternity Council is a body composed of the presidents of all the fraternities on the campus. Its duties are to make the rules governing the pledging and initiation of men into fraternities and to act as a clearinghouse for the problems that arise in fraternities due to the trying times of the past few years.

This year the practice was reinstated of sending two members of the council to the National Interfraternity Conference in New York during the latter part of November to represent the Council. This is to be an annual excursion in the future.

Acacia, one of the few fraternities that kept its doors open during a three-year war period, has emerged into the new and exciting postwar world with little, if any, bad effects.

The stately colonial mansion at 702 East Third Street reverberates with the echoes of ex-servicemen resuming their fraternal and scholastic life.

Acacia, the only non-Greek letter fraternity on the Indiana University campus, placed first scholastically again during the summer semester of 1945. Acacia affairs, such as the annual Winter Colonnade and Goat Dinner and the more frequent Yellow Dog rites, were held this year as usual. One of the social high lights of the year was the visit of Les Brown and his orchestra, who dined and visited informally at the house.

Outstanding boys in the house are Jack Pearson, H.T. Risley, Bob Boone, and Duane Gillum who wear the green and orange of the Skull and Crescent; and Gene Latham, Charles Millsbaugh, Bill Thompson, and Oz Smith of the Sphinx Cub.

"I" men Thompson and Latham are members of the Union Board and Student Council respectively. Leon Gordon and Jack Denison are members of Phi Eta Sigma.

With only four upperclassmen, three seniors and a postgraduate, Alpha Tau Omega started the school year off with a houseful of pledges. Although Delta Alpha chapter continued to lose fellows to the army and navy reserves, several actives returned from service and other veterans were pledged. The A.T.O.'s went all-out in their social schedule, featuring serenades, exchange dinners, house parties, and dances, highlighted by their annual formal dinner-dance during the second semester. Their pledge dance, December 8, depicting a Christmas theme, was held in Alumni hall.

Honors this year went to Ralph Helms, Sphinx Club member, and President Roland Davies, who was pledged by Nu Sigma Nu, medical honorary. Richard Carey, an air force dischargee, and Richard Lambert, house manager, became Skull and Crescent members. Lambert also was elected president of the Sophomore Class and was initiated into Falcon Club. The house retained Robert Lundin, M.A., a Sigma Xi, and initiated Sgt. William Couch, well-known R.O.T.C. instructor on campus for three years.

Robert Harbison, sophomore, played guard as a regular on the Hoosiers' championship football team. "Gus" Gillaspie on the baseball squad, and Robert Beam, member of the track team, left for the navy early in the fall.

Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, was the birthplace of Beta Theta Pi Fraternity, founded there by eight students in 1839. Pi chapter at Indiana University was granted its charter in 1845.

With many veterans now honorably discharged from the service, Pi Chapter is now, for the first time in several years, on prewar status. Social high light of the year was the traditional Miami Triad Dance with Sigma Chi and Phi Delt Fraternities.

This year the chapter is well represented on the varsity football team by Pete Pihos and John Goldsherry. Pihos, in addition to being a member of Blue Key, is a member of Sphinx Club, as are Gene Lee, Bob McAdams, and Bill Sparrenberger. In Skull and Crescent, the sophomore honorary, Beta is represented by Tom Campbell, Pat Campbell, and Rob Cook. Hank Russe served on the summer semester Interfraternity Pledge Council as its president in addition to being an underclass student football manager. The Falcon Club claims as newly initiated members Leonard French and Ted Johnson. Bob McAdams was elected President of the Junior Class.

Overlooking the quadrangle stands a fraternity backed by more than a half century of great national tradition and with over two decades on the Indiana campus; it stands to protect its rich heritage. The chapter boasts its share of "I" men, with Aggie Oleksak and Nick Sebek representing us in football. Our two net men, Leon Kaminski and Mike Hunter won their letters in tennis, while Ed Mueller, veteran half-miler, and Jim Odell are lettermen in both track and cross country. Sluggin' George Cherry held down second base for the Crimson last year. Jack Martin and Bob Riley have also invaded the track world, both boys being quartermilers.

Mike Hunter, Bill MacMurtrey, and Jim Odell are wearing the Sphinx Club pods, and Ed Mueller, Charles Hopkins, and Joe Ondrejka are in Skull and Crescent. Delta Chis in Falcon Club include Salm, George Cherry, and Charles Hopkins. Del Woodcock serves as pledge president of Alpha Phi Omega.

Topping this social season was the Fall Pledge Prom, but the most-talked-about event was our old-fashioned Halloween Party climaxed with games and ghost stories. Hayrides and picnics to McCormick's Creek and exchange dinners completed our social calendar.

Delta Tau Delta claims Bethany College, West Virginia, as its birthplace. The chapter was founded there by eight students in 1858. The organization's prosperous growth was extended by uniting with the Rainbow Society in 1886. Beta Alpha at Indiana University was granted its charter in 1871.

Four alumni of Delta Tau Delta are members of the Indiana University faculty. They are Stith Thompson, Leon Wallace, J. A. Wright, and Robert Mitchner.

Members of the red brick casino on Eighth Street are represented in college activities. Neal Welch, John Funk, and Bill Sherfey wear the orange and green hats of Skull and Crescent, and Max Oster and Bob Kinsey boast of their Falcon Club hats. Bob Meyer, Jim Powers, and Jim Schneider carried the Delt banner into athletics. However, Bob received a broken leg in the Indiana-Michigan game. Bill Sherfey was in Kiss and Tell, Uncle Harry, and White Steed, and is a member of Theta Alpha Phi. Oliver Burry was elected chairman of the Freshman Class. Delta Upsilon has started its one-hundred-and-twelfth year of national existence and its thirty-first year on the Indiana University campus. D.U. was hard struck by the war years; however, it has carried on its old traditions and is well on its way toward prewar standards. Its efforts have been bolstered by many returning veterans who have served their country in the four corners of the world.

This year D.U. has been active in many activities with Don Burns being elected to the Student Council, Tom McConnell is a three-letter man in baseball, while Bob Mehl, a freshman, is a member of the varsity basketball squad. The "Rod" clubs are represented by D.U. with Bob Van Valer in Sphinx Club, George Grey and John Farley in Skull and Crescent, and Don Burns and Lionel Billman being members of Falcon Club.

In addition to other activities, D.U. was noted for its fine serenades, featuring a quintet which included John Farley, Don Burns, Chuck Wehmeyer, Med Flory, and Louis Hill.

Considering D.U. is a nonsecret fraternity, the only secret known to the campus is why there is no walk leading to the front door and even the members use the side entrance.

No chapter of Kappa Delta Rho is now starting its twentieth year on the I.U. campus, and highlighting this momentous year came the return of many former brothers and new pledges, all once members of the armed forces.

Brothers Bob Kappler, Paul Warren, and John Kokos, who left I.U. in 1942 and 1943, have returned to campus as have new brothers George Milan, Arthur Buda, and Al Kralovansky. The new pledge class contains former servicemen Paul MacMurray, Wally Krucina, George McCool, Lloyd Carlson, and Bob Leonard.

Social events included a wiener roast at McCormick's Creek in the fall, alumni smokers, an informal Christmas Dance, and the traditional formal pledge dance in January.

The KDR's boast many participants in various athletic fields. There are four members of the wrestling team, and members of the basketball, baseball, and football teams as well as several student managers. In the intramural contests, the house placed first in football and was a leading team in basketball. Within the house there is much rivalry in the pledge-active football and basketball games.

Fired by the spirit of society, Kappa Sigma has grown from its founding in 1869 at the University of Virginia to include one hundred and twelve chapters. Its traditions and customs descend from a group of students at the University of Bologna in 1400.

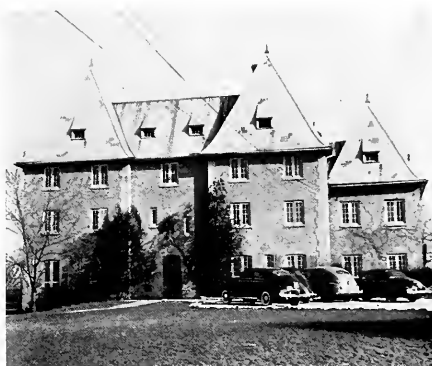

With the return of several of its brothers from the armed services, Beta Theta of Kappa Sigma has also returned to peacetime. The influence of these "old boys," plus the enthusiasm of those who kept the house on a high standard during the war, has sent a new spirit through the "Brown County" estate.

Marlowe Kluter is president of the Board of Aeons and a member of the Sphinx Club. Shelby Jones, editor of the Freshman Handbook and basketball manager, is a member of Union Board. Members of Falcon Club are: Tom Kelly, Howard Bibler, and Shelby Jones. Eddie Radigan, Howard Bibler, Duain Fanning, and Tom Hagel are wearers of Skull and Crescent pods.

As in the past, Kappa Sigma has offered its hospitality to returning servicemen and alumni who have missed the good times of college life while away from their brothers.

When Lambda Chis returned to I.U. last fall, they found a redecorated house which has become one of the show places of the campus.

On the "rod" list are Bill Freeland, John Phillips, and James Schloot in Sphinx Club, of which Bill is vice-president; Edwin Duncan on Union Board; Gene Bouslog and Robert Shepherd in Skull and Crescent; Arthur Pontius in Falcon Club, and Duncan, Schloot, Shepherd, Frank Demeter, and Robert Pieske in Alpha Kappa Psi. James Sale is campus editor of THE STUDENT, vice-president of Sigma Delta Chi, and treasurer of the June graduating class. Ronald Coapstick is treasurer of the freshman class, and Elmer Smith, treasurer of the Interfraternity Pledge Council. Pontius, who appeared in Kiss and Tell, and Morris Dahl, who appeared in Uncle Harry, are active in the University Theatre. Smith and Stump are on the Y.M.C.A. Cabinet.

Besides serenades, exchange dinners, and tea dances, the social calendar has included the semiformal Cross and Crescent Dance in September, the pledge-sponsored Brown and Gold Dance in November, and the traditional White Rose Formal in the spring.

The boys on the "Hill" did not take long to get into the swing of post-war I.U. Stories from returning veterans about the "good old days" before the war and the speed-up program were soon duplicated on a campus that was determined to get back to normal.

Proud of its heritage and prestige as the oldest continuously active social fraternity chapter in the country, Phi Delta Theta added greatly to its shining history in the past year. Friday afternoon dances, hayrides, the annual Rose Dance, and the Miami Triad kept the Phi Deltas high socially.

Ed Sovola, writing for the INDIANA DAILY STUDENT acquired a huge following with his feature stories.

"Goon" Brown, Al Horn and Art Lehman were members of I.U.'s football team. Bob Sostarits and Chuck Brown wore Skull and Crescent pods. Harry "Tuffy" Brooks, "Goon" Brown, and Ed Sovola were members of Sphinx Club.

Also a member of Sphinx Club, top "rod" honors went to the president of Phi Delta Theta, Rodney Rockefeller, who busied himself on the Student Council, Union Board, president of the Interfraternity Council, and the Board of Directors of the Collegiate Chamber of Commerce.

The Phi Gams, marking their seventy-fifth year on the Indiana campus, began their autumn's endeavors with a full chapter and completed the school year with a high ranking in both intramurals and scholarship.

The Fijis' social agenda included the Victory Pig Dinner in May, the Jeff Hop (held with the Phi Psis) in midwinter, the pledge dance last fall.

On campus Joe Kyle served as president of the Union Board, Board of Aeons, and Sphinx Club. Lain Tetrick gaveled Nu Sigma Nu and the Skeleton Club; and Med Nicholson sports edited the ARBUTUS and ALUMNI MAGAZINE.

Along with Kyle, Jim Bond and Ralph Hubley were Sphinxers. Hubley was also in Sigma Delta Chi. Ed Kennedy, Paul Yocum, Charlie Boehne, and Ralph Thompson were members of Skull and Crescent. Falcon Club took in Gus Cox, Stu Tompkins, and Tom Blackburn. Bill Williamson and Ed Kennedy were initiated into Alpha Kappa Psi and Charles McMahon belonged to Beta Gamma Sigma.

Phi Gam lettermen were Ed Kennedy in track, Paul Yocum in swimming, and Tom Blackburn in golf. George Porter acted as junior manager of the basketball team.

John Wallace was initiated into Sphinx Club, and Gene Turner and Ken Smith into Skull and Crescent. Dave Culp, president of the fraternity, led the house in scholarship and campus activities.

Phi Psi's had leading intramural teams. Prominent intramural athletes were Ed Wasmuth, Don Newman, and Bob Powers. Wayne Crispin was a letter man in track, having won his numeral in his freshman year. John Wallace, who played freshman basketball under Branch McCracken, again scored points for old I.U.

The first social event of the year was a picnic at McCormick's Creek State Park. On November tenth, a smoker was held for the local alumnns. The annual pledge dance was held December first and the Jeff Hop, held with the Phi Gams, was in the spring. There was a series of exchange dinners and before-dance dinners.

In its eighteenth year on the Indiana University campus, Alpha Theta of Pi Lambda Phi is still upholding its fine standards and traditions. After two years the Pi Lams have returned to the big colonial mansion on 3rd Street. Back in their house once more, the Indiana Alpha Thetas show great promise of maintaining their usual scholastic and athletic distinctions.

Brother Ed Cohen continues his excellent work as assistant physical education instructor. His second year on the baseball varsity was marked by some outstanding play behind the plate. Brother Bernie Berger is active on the gymnastic team and is aspiring to a position on the wrestling varsity. Brother Chuck Learman is lending vocal support to the Indiana Glee Club and choral group. In addition, several men worked out with the football squad this past summer.

Activities during the year included the traditional snow battle with the Delta Gammas, the annual winter formal dance, and the frolicking Gypsy Dance in the spring.

Abrams is president of the Senior Class, a member of Sphinx Club, the Board of Directors of the Collegiate Chamber of Commerce, and Interfraternity Council. Ed Elsner did a fine job as chairman of the Junior Prom and as a member of Falcon Club. Bill Farmer is president of Skull and Crescent, and McKelvey, French, and Gates are also members. Wes Kiley went in for debate; Dick Hawley, pledge class president, was secretary of Interfraternity Pledge Council and Jack Brennan was Freshman Class vice-president.

In athletics the SAE's were represented by Tom Schwartz and Howard Wright on IU's Big Ten Championship football team and by Schwartz and Dave Walker in basketball.

SAE's famed hospitality made the beautiful dinner on the night of the opening of formal season a huge success. A large portrait of Indiana Gamma's late famed brother, Ernie Pyle, now hangs proudly in one of their lounges.

The Sigs started on the road back to a prewar basis with the return of five actives from the fighting fronts of the world. We looked forward to the return of many more of the brothers in service at the start of the second semester.

Sigma Chi welcomed eighteen new pledges into the lodge. The active chapter has seventeen members, five of which are Navy Med Students.

Jeff, the Sig's great dane mascot, became a familiar figure on campus, following the Sigs to and from their classes. Jeff replaces Caesar, who was a war casualty of the "speed-up" program.

At this writing, the activities of the chapter include: John Meents and Dick Stull, Sphinx Club; "Chick" Muller, cheerleader, and Skull and Crescent. "Curly" Armstrong, vice-president of the Interfraternity Council, Skull and Crescent, and varsity basketball; Don McLeaster, chief sports-writer for the DAILY STUDENT.

The pledges of the 7th Street Athletic Club are: Bob DeVinney, track team; Dee Baker, basketball; Wally Getz and Tom Stroop, football; Joe Atkins, diving; Fred Scrimsher, Interfraternity Council dance chairman.

Sigma Nu Fraternity, founded in 1869 at V.M.I., Lexington, Virginia, installed Beta Eta Chapter at Indiana in the year 1892. Since that time some 750 men have made the "Kirkwood Kastle" their home. With twenty-one upperclassmen, twenty-nine pledges, and one P.G., Sigma Nu has a total membership of 51 members, 16 of whom are veterans. With the house again full, peacetime normalcy has returned.

Sigma Nu is represented in campus activities by the following group, led by Lester Webber, Commander, who is a member of Union Board, Board of Acons, Interfraternity Council, and Sphinx Club. Tom Byrd is president of Sphinx Club. Falcon Club, newly organized, is headed by Bill Adams. Dick Raymont and John Gadian are both members of Falcon Club. Phil Huffine is also a member of Sphinx Club. Al Williams and Tom Black are the two lettermen in the chapter. They won their Big I's in baseball and golf respectively. Skull and Crescent, Sophomore honorary, has Jack O'Day as treasurer and Karl Bell and Herman Crouch as members from this chapter.

The pledge class held an informal tea dance and the Barroom Brawl, one of the oldest traditional dances on campus, was held in December.

Sigma Pi fraternity was founded in 1897 to promote friendship in accordance with scholarship. The local chapter was established in 1905, and from that time until the present, the men of Sigma Pi have endeavored to uphold these two principles.

The present membership, which has survived the war, is also keeping another house tradition by taking part in campus activities. Jim Elrod is drum major of the University Band, participates in Little Theatre productions, and with Ivan Hines is active in the Y.M.C.A. cabinet. Dick Lowman plays on the football squad, and Ed Labas writes for the DAILY STUDENT. Jack Ruder and Jim Chatt are members of Skull and Crescent, and Charles Lowery works with the Town Hall Forum.

The social events of the year have been very successful. The first house party was a hayride to McCormick's Creek State Park, where members and guests enjoyed a picnic supper. In November the fellows and their dates had a theatre party followed by a record dance at the house. Another high light of the year was the Christmas party of December 20th.

The Theta Chi's resumed the tradition of having an annual fall barn dance this year. The chapter also plans to have the annual spring Pig Dinner held in honor of visiting alumni and this fall had a banquet in honor of the football players in the house.

Theta Chi has its share of campus "rods." Frank Plummer is vice-president of Skull and Crescent, secretary of the Interfraternity Council, and treasurer of the Sophomore Class. Don Tate, Larry Gerbas, and Bill Carr are also members of Skull and Crescent. Members in Sphinx Club include Russell Deal, Dick Kinder, Bob Ravensberg, and Joe Sowinski. Alpha Kappa Psi members are Dick Kinder, president; Jack Barnett, secretary; and Joe Mogle. Joe Mogle and Tabby Holden are members of the Falcon Club. Floyd Tye, a freshman in Law School, is president of the Veterans' Club. Townsend Taylor was initiated into Phi Delta Kappa.

In athletics, we have Russell Deal, Bob Ravensberg, and Joe Sowinski starring in football and Ravensberg has been chosen for this year's All-America team. Tabby Holden has an award in track and Bernie Lehman is a member of the gymnastics team. Cheering these boys on, we have Lowry Hundley representing us as yell leader.

This year, for the first time in several years, the Men's Residence Center is occupied entirely by civilians. West Hall, the largest of the dormitories in the Center, was used during the war to house both soldiers and sailors under various special training programs. Both South Hall, which was unoccupied during the war, and two sections of North Hall are now being temporarily used as women's dormitories because of the housing shortage. West Hall and "C" section of North Hall are the only parts of the Center now actually occupied by men.

The men of the Men's Residence Center are governed by a Senate which consists of the elected representatives of each of the floors of West Hall and of "C" section of North Hall. These Senators also serve as the officers of the floor or section they represent. The officers of the Center are chosen from the Senate.

The Center also has its own social and athletic programs. The social side includes parties, dances, picnics, and similar activities. The men of the Center take part in intramural sports of all kinds on the MRC teams.

DEAN MUELLER

Mrs. Kate Mueller, Dean of Women, is the author of numerous publications concerning psychology, music, and art. In 1920 Dean Mueller received her A.B. from Wilson College in Pennsylvania and three years later earned her A.M. at Columbia University.

After receiving her Ph.D. from the University of Chicago in 1928 she was instructor of psychology and education at Wilson College until 1935. This was followed by an assistant professorship at the University of Minnesota.

Mrs. Mueller is a former director of music appreciation studies at the University of Oregon, where her work was sponsored by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. In July, 1943 she was named lecturer in education. With such a diverse background Dean Mueller is extremely capable of understanding the problems which arise among women students on a college campus.

Again this year Mrs. Lottie Kirby, associate Dean of Women, served as sponsor of the Panhellenic Organization. She is ever willing to untangle the many rushing and pledging problems which come under her supervision. Mrs. Kirby is a member of Pi Lambda Theta, honorary for women in education, and was formerly vice-president of the Business and Professional Women's Club.

Since 1941 Dr. Catherine Evans has served as vocational counselor and as an assistant professor at Indiana University, advising women concerning courses of study and necessary vocational training. Dr. Evans was formerly Dean of Women at Nebraska College and research assistant for the bureau of Educational Research at Minnesota University.

INTERSORORITY PLEDGE COUNCIL

Every other Monday at five o'clock the sixteen members of the Intersorority Pledge Council ate at the Colonial Tea Room and afterwards held their business meeting. These girls were the pledge presidents from all the sororities on campus. The Council planned a series of rotation parties so that the pledges of all sororities could become better acquainted and to promote good will among Greek letter organizations. These parties varied in entertainment from a blue-jean party to a formal tea.

Starting an early collection of keys, the Intersorority Pledge Council purchased black and gold keys for charm bracelets.

And, of course, you remember the pledge prom on January 5, 1946. The Intersorority Pledge Council gave this annual dance in collaboration with the Interfraternity Pledge Council.

The Panhellenic Association is composed of two members of each sorority, preferably the president and the rush chairman. Its purpose is to uphold high standards of fraternity life and inter-fraternity relationship, and to discuss mutual problems of its individual member organizations.

The word Panhellenic is derived from the Greek words, "pan," meaning all and "hellenic," meaning Greek. This organization of sorority women offers two scholarships yearly, which provide for one semester's fees, to sorority girls having the highest scholastic average for the first semester of the year.

ALPHA LAMBDA DELTA

Alpha Lambda Delta is a national honorary for freshmen making a B-plus average. The aim of Alpha Lambda Delta is "to promote intelligent living with an increased appreciation of the love of study and the cultural phases of campus life."

Besides their monthly dinner meetings at the Colonial Tea Room, members enjoyed their Christmas tea on December 12, the annual initiation banquet with Phi Eta Sigma, freshman men's honorary, and an informal dinner at Boxman's in January.

Miss Myrtle Anderson, home economics instructor, served as faculty advisor, and Betty Todd as senior advisor.

The Alpha Chi's began the year with a strong start in activities in spite of the long trek across campus from their hilltop home with the peg-leg steps.

Rae Veit heads the activity list as president of A.W.S., member of Mortar Board and Pleiades; with Mary Edith Jamison as business manager of the ARBUTUS, Collegiate Chamber of Commerce, and Pleiades; Ann Richardson, president of Panhellenic; Pat Meyers, Y.W.C.A. Cabinet, and Pleiades; and Marilyn Kriegbaum, vice-president of W.A.A. Tophets include Alice Capron, Pat Hamilton, who was one of the five ARBUTUS beauties, and Sue Johnson, ARBUTUS art editor. Taffy Thompson served on the Board of Standards and Joan Cox on A.W.S. Council. Alpha Lams, Ila Barnes and Lucille Reininga, received Mortar Board recognition, and Joan Whipple was initiated into Iota Sigma Pi, chemistry honorary. Three FOLIO offices were filled by Marilyn Brentlinger, managing editor; Micha Miller, business manager; and Barbara Witham, junior art editor.

Additional scholastic honors later in the year were bestowed upon Joan Whipple, Phi Beta Kappa; and Taffy Thompson and Carolla Flentke, Beta Gamma Sigma.

Alpha Delta Pi is the oldest social sorority in the United States. It was founded at Wesleyan College in Macon, Georgia on May 15, 1851. Beta Alpha chapter came on the I.U. campus in 1926.

As usual, the Alpha Delta Pi's are striving for high scholastic rating and we were happy and proud of our representative in Phi Beta Kappa — Dorothy Vest.

The "wearers of the Diamond" participated in many extracurricular activities this year. Connie McGavin and Dottie Vest were members of Pleiades. Bonnie Gasaway, Nancy Uland, and Jeanne Jones represented us in Tophets. We were also active in Omicron Delta, Pi Lambda Theta, Lambda Nu, the office and editorial staffs of the ARBUTUS, Classical Club, N.A.A.C.P., English, Spanish, and French Clubs, Accounting and Management Clubs, Little Theatre productions, International Relations Club, Y.W.C.A., and Newman Club.

We had exchange dinners, picnics, hayrides, and our two traditional formal dances. The annual "Diamond Dinner" was held in early November. During the Christmas season, we held a party for some underprivileged children. The "Colonial Dinner," in honor of our founders was possible this year because of the longer session of school.

On January 9, 1945, Alpha Epsilon local sorority became the Alpha pledge chapter of the national sorority, Delta Phi Epsilon.

When you see an active D Phi E walking down campus with a wide grin on her face, it's a cinch she is remembering a bit of pledge entertainment given at one of the year's parties. As a matter of fact, the pledges produced songs and skits so prolifically that they had to be restricted to 972 a semester.

Our actives (when not laughing at pledge entertainment) were busy with various campus activities. Gloria Beer and Ruth Barash are on the FOLIO staff and in the English Club. Ruth is also Junior Manager of the University Theatre Business Staff. Gloria received Mortar Board recognition, participated in the variety shows for Camp Atterbury, was in Little Theatre productions, and wore the white hat of Tophets, as did Lovey Stein and Rosalie Baker, a member of Omicron Delta. President Elaine Schwartz is on the Student Religious Cabinet and is president of the Hillel Student Council.

Social events we like to remember include our Pledge Parade, informal dances and parties, exchange dinners, open houses, and our initiation formal.

Tau chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha keeps in stride with national organization policies and world advancement and, at the same time, feels proud that many of its members have gone out into prominent positions of national importance and are drawing acclaim by their activities.

The Joy Leaf Club is composed of a spirited group of girls who are striving to become big sisters in Alpha Kappa Alpha proper. It is an interesting club and sponsors dances and projects of its own.

With a view toward achievement in all walks of life, members of Tau chapter contribute to such projects as the Mississippi Health Projects, National Health Project, and National Lobbying at Congress.

Alpha Kappa Alpha strives for finer womanhood and an understanding of humanity. Tau chapter gives aid to needful persons and feels that its contribution will be a benefit to society as a whole rather than a single glory to our organization.

Tau chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha was established on the Indiana University campus in 1922 some fourteen years after it was founded nationally.

Spring activities included a dance and a regional meeting held at the Indiana chapter.

The excitement and activity of the first peacetime semester since 1941 made Indiana a wonderful place to return to last fall. Dances, football games, moments at Taylor's Grill, classes, and term papers kept the Tri-Delts busy both semesters.

The upperclassmen stole the show in activities: Marylea Hawkins, president of the house, and Betty Protsman proudly welcomed Maxine McGovern into Pleiades as a comember. Marylea is also in Y.W.C.A. Cabinet, and Betty is in Sigma Alpha Iota, music honorary. Maxine, Office Manager of the ARBUTUS, was president of Tophets. Esther Bailey served on the Y.W.C.A. Council, and Alicia Smith upheld journalistic honors as a Theta Sigma Phi and night editor of the DAILY STUDENT. Elizabeth Evans was elected vice-president of the junior class early in the year, and Joanne Mott was a member of Alpha Mu Omega, another music honorary.

New Tophet pledges in the house were sophomores, Betty Gardner and Louise Cory. Janet Protsman was taken into Alpha Lambda Delta.

Preparation for Homecoming, the eve of Dame's Ball, and the thrill of having their two candidates for Arbeauties, Libby Evans and Georgianna French, place in the first twenty-five, added high lights to the 1945-46 year.

What have we here? Rodesses. Outgoing and incoming. To enumerate:

Betsy Fults was elected into Phi Beta Kappa, active in Mortar Board, vice-president of Y. W. C. A., a member of Pleiades, Theta Alpha Phi, Pi Lambda Theta, and was in Blithe Spirit.

Our president, Jane Ruble, was also president of Mortar Board, a member of Theta Alpha Phi, and Pleiades, and had the lead in Kiss and Tell.

Mary Yenne won the first Wendell L. Willkie Fellowship awarded on this campus and headed the Student Religious Cabinet and Pi Lambda Theta. Pat Kibler was also a member of Pi Lambda Theta.

Pat Perkins was elected secretary of the Student Council and served on the Y.W.C.A. council with Marion Mutz. Kitty Morrison was elected to the Board of Standards. Marion Mutz was president of Tophets, Betty Milbern was vice-president, and Kitty Morrison was also a member. Marion Mutz received Mortar Board recognition and was in Uncle Harry. Ginger Shipp was Associate Business Manager of the ARBUTUS.

Betty Leible received Mortar Board recognition and was vice-president of Alpha Lambda Delta. June Bowman also was a member.

One of the co-advisors of the pledge class was Nancy Wall.

From their vantage point on Seventh Street, only a minute and a half from the commons, two minutes from "eight o'clocks," the D.Z.'s have been busy working and playing in all phases of campus life.

First to the seniors: Bonnie Hodges, a Pleiades girl, is editor-in-chief of this 1946 ARBUTUS. Another girl who is wearing the dark-blue hat with the golden wings is Christine Benninghofen, treasurer of the Y.W.C.A. Pat Baucroft is a member of Y.W.C.A. Cabinet and A.W.S. Council and was chairman of the A.W.S. Fall Carnival.

Charlotte Baker is comanager of the ARBUTUS advertising staff. Phyllis Wear and Lois Pate, Sigma Alpha Iota's, welcomed another Delta Zeta, Midge Pierce, into their group last fall. These three girls and Alice Dickenson, a fourth music student, are also members of Alpha Mu Omega.

Ellen Kroll, a member of the A.W.S. guidance committee and the Y.W.C.A. Cabinet is a junior member of Tophets. Our two sophomore Tophets are Kathy Phares and Alyce Easter. Scholastically speaking, Delta Zeta ranked a close second in the all-campus sorority standings, and we were happy to award the scholarship ring to Dorothy Ray.

"Theta kite went sailing" higher and higher in scholarship, activities, and social life. On the intellectual side: two wearers of the black and gold, Rudy Hamilton and Jeanne Seidel, earned Phi Beta Kappa keys. On the social side: Kappa Alpha Theta introduced their pledges at the "Storyland Ball." They had a special rush party and "pledged" their fathers at the Dads' week end in the fall. And on the extracurricular side, Rudy Hamilton heads the Theta roddesses as editor of the DAILY STUDENT, Who's Who on College Campuses, Mortar Board, Student Council, and Manager of the University Theatre Business Staff. Barbara Hawkins, co-editor of the Panhellenic Rush Guide was managing editor of the 1946 ARBUTUS.

Dorothea Voss was elected president of Student Council. Mary Walker, on Y.W.C.A. Council and Theatre Business Staff, served as vice-president of W.A.A. Board with Ginny James and Betty Barbée.

Marge Hodson, Margie Snoko, and Majetta Stewart wore the blue-and-gold hats of Pleiades and Jean York, Pat Gates, and Joan Hodson wore the white hats of Tophets. Janet Gray Frazee and Pat Gates received Mortar Board recognition and were on Y.W.C.A. Council, University Business Staff, and Alpha Lambda Delta, of which Pat was president.

The Kappas celebrated Homecoming Day and the 75th anniversary of their founding on October 13 with an open house after the Homecoming game. After the Purdue game the victory was celebrated by another open house.

Feting the pledges the Kappa Baby Ball started the social season which also included the annual Snow Ball Formal winter dance, and the hayride and barn dance. Open houses and exchange dinners with fraternities were regular features on the social calendar. At Christmas time, the Kappas donned their heaviest clothes and entered into the yuletide spirit by caroling.

Beverly Palmer was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. Anna Jane Buskirk was president of Y.W.C.A., a member of Mortar Board, Pleiades, upperclass women's honorary, and was named in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Other Kappa Pleiades members were Marion Lower and Betty Titsworth. Betty was also secretary of the senior class. Betty Porter, Janet Lanham, and Jane Mahorney were members of Tophets, new sophomore honorary for organized women. Sara Chapman was president of Theta Alpha Phi, dramatic honorary, and Delta Tau Mu, art honorary.

The annual pledge prom on December 1 was the "Phi Mu Hi Ball." Cigarette and hat-check girls, and pink elephants carried out the night club theme. Serenades, exchange dinners, and a spring formal in May completed the social whirl.

Margaret Brooks and Carolyn Sullivan were pledged to Tophets, and Ruth Nicholson is a charter member. Pleiades members for the year were Jean Shelburne, Pauline Ferguson, and Anne Pierce. Adrienne Robinson was a member of Sigma Alpha Iota, music honorary, while Greta Padgett and Mary Helen Pease were members of the University Concert Orchestra. Betty Murphy was also a member of the Concert Band. Omicron Delta members were Rosemary Keil and Nancy Spindler. Jean Carpenter was treasurer of Kappa Phi and Annadell Craig was vice-president of Kappa Phi and a member of Theta Sigma Phi, national journalism honorary for women. Mary Jane Reynolds belonged to the dramatic honorary, Theta Alpha Phi. Ruth Dykhuizen received Mortar Board recognition. Betty Weibel, formerly of the Philippines, was a member of Cosmopolitan Club.

This year, as in the past, Phi Omega Pi is all out for campus activities. Jean Kimmel and Erwilli Radcliffe have been honored with Mortar Board recognition. Jan Whisman and Marilyn Lipsett are members of Pleiades, while Janet Kitt and Erwilli Radcliffe are members of Tophets. Mary Sharp is Intramural head in the Women's Athletic Association. The Phi Omega Pi's are represented in Omicron Delta, business honorary for women, by Elizabeth Delp and Marilyn Lipsett. Betty Jones and Janet Kitt are members of Y.W.C.A. Cabinet and Council, respectively. Bettye Buchanan is a member of the I.U. Concert Band.

Bright and early on Sunday mornings, a group of Phi Omega Pi's wend their way downtown to the U.S.O. to escort servicemen to church. One can meet Phi Omega Pi's in nearly all of the various clubs on campus.

In addition to all campus activities, Phi Omega Pi has a full social calendar of dinners and dances each year.

The Pi Phis are well known on campus for their friendliness and, this year as always, have upheld their tradition signified by the arrow they proudly wear.

Some of the high lights of every year are the winter and spring formals and the fall pledge dance with the introduction of the new pledges. Then sprinkled in during the year, there are always the exchange dinners, the Mothers' week end, and open houses.

The Pi Phis have also been active individually on campus. Virginia Dill is a member of Mortar Board, Pleiades, summer president of A.W.S., and president of Student Council. Mary Frances Kelly is on Senior Board of W.A.A. and vice-president of Oceanides. Nancy Lee Foster is on Board of Standards, Panhellenic, and Tophets. The Alpha Lambda Delta members of the house include Eleanor DuBois, Virginia Reese, and Mary Moffet Ingles. Also, Mary Ellen Barrett, Pamela Cagle, Nancy Fishering, and Katie Cookson are on the ARBUTUS staff. Emmie Barrett was manager of the ARBUTUS Beauty Contest held in the fall.

The Sig Delts realized a five-year dream come true with the purchase of a new home on the quad this fall.

We had "all-out" inspection Homecoming, when a record breaking number of alums and guests attended our open house and buffet dinner. The Parents' Club meeting in November provided an opportunity for the S.D.T.'s Moms and Dads to get a "look-see" at their daughters' new home.

In the "hat" organizations S.D.T. is represented in Pleiades by Prexy Joan Jackson and Dorothy Chaikin. Dorothy is also a member of Tophets. Ruth Gold and Shirley Lasky also wear the white cap bearing the green T. Sylvia Miller is active in Intercollegiate Debating.

Norma Friedland is Vice-President of the Hillel Student Council. Dora Marenbloom is a DAILY STUDENT staff member. Many of the girls are working on various FOLIO committees, and Norma Friedland is a sub-editor of the magazine. Betty Jo Sherman was invited to join Omicron Delta, business honorary.

The pledges held their annual pledge dance at the Chapter House and used as their theme "Gateway to Heaven." Angel caricatures of the pledges, pennies from heaven, and clouds lent a heavenly atmosphere to the dance.

Exchange dinners with the Sigma Alpha Mu and Pi Lambda Phi fraternities were held.

Each semester brings more fun and new honor to Alpha Xi Chapter of Zeta Tau Alpha. By fun we mean not only pajama parties, the Dames' Ball Dinner, Junior Prom Breakfast, coke parties, the Pledge Dance, and Spring Formal, but also the Dads' Day Dinner and Faculty Dinners.

Zetas took top place in basketball and hadminton intramurals, and second place in swimming and volleyball. One of our two members in Oceanides is Mildred Pritchett, President of the club; Terry Day and Lila Belle Vorgang are on the W.A.A. Board.

Three girls wear Pleiades hats — Barbara Creighton, Dee Harrington, and Terry Day. Dee Harrington is Editor of THE DAILY STUDENT and is in Pi Sigma Alpha and Theta Sigma Phi. Jane Salb and Peggy Singer wear Tophet caps. Kathryn Fox was appointed to the Board of Standards. Marjorie Burns is president of Kappa Phi, and is one of two Zetas on the Y.W.C.A. Council. Jo Krauch is in Daubers' Club, Vice-President of Eta Sigma Phi, and of Westminster Inn. Jule McKnight, ZTA president, received Theta Alpha Phi recognition and was a charter member of Tophets. Lila Lee Giesler and Nancy Herish were among the final 25 candidates from whom the ARBUTUS Beauty Queen was chosen.

Good bye, or hello?

The friendly smile and the golden quill, which characterize Alpha Xi Deltas everywhere, appeared on the Indiana campus this year with the establishment of Beta Pi Chapter.

Alpha Xi Delta was founded at Lombard College in Galesburg, Illinois, on April 17, 1893, and has one hundred and forty college and alumnae chapters throughout the country including all universities in the Big Ten.

High light of the year was an impressive chapter installation in April. National officers of the sorority and Alpha Xi Deltas from Indiana and neighboring states participated in this ceremony.

Chapter colonizers are Julie Coderre and Janice Caudill from the University of Illinois, and Patricia King and Bernice Becker from Ohio Wesleyan University.

Julie Coderre wears the pin of Mortar Board. Janice Caudill played one of the leading roles in the Little Theater production of Blithe Spirit, and also worked production crews for all plays during the season. Charlotte Moulton is a member of Sigma Alpha Iota, the music honorary.

Freshmen living in Forest Hall this year were well cared for from the moment they arrived in September. This hall, which last year housed upper-classwomen only, had elected its Council and Advisory Council the previous year and they were ready for action. Surely these freshmen will achieve great things in their college years, since they have been guided by girls with experience in all phases of campus life. Forest has two representatives on both A.W.S. Council and the Board of Standards, as well as many in positions on Y.W. Council and Cabinet. We have the Management Club President, as well as officers and members in Omicron Delta, the C.C. of C. and the Accounting Club. A Forest scribe contributes to the FOLIO regularly. We have membership in Oceanides, Archery, Paddock, and Rambler's Clubs in W.A.A.; and Sigma Alpha Iota, Future Teachers in America, Pi Lambda Theta, Pamarada, Theta Sigma Phi, Student Religious Cabinet, the Home Ec. West Memorial coeds led a busy life this year. There was a series of dances, pajama parties, and some important teas and receptions. Our swimming team, under the leadership of Joan Fogle, tied for first place in the intramural swimming meet. Norah Duff, Mary Frances Dreesen, and June Allen received Mortar Board recognition. Norah Duff and Mary Frances Dreesen were taken into Blue Crest, honorary organization for sophomore women. Judy Greenfield placed in the first twenty-five of the ARBUTUS Beauty Queens. Marg Hendrickson, Skip Pass, and Norma Murray were members of the ARBUTUS staff and Norma Murray and Skip Pass were also on the staff of the DAILY STUDENT. Helen Zakutansky was captain on her bowling team.

“... Remember the days you’ve spent here... remember the friends you’ve made here...” — these are lines from the Memorial song, and they apply to every girl who lives in Memorial Hall.

With friendly upperclasswomen to greet and guide them, the girls moved into East Memorial on a warm September day. Soon after that, the first informal house meeting gave them a chance to know each other and to find out about campus life.

The social high light of the year was the formal Christmas dance, “Christmas Prelude.” Sunday music hours, dress-up dinners, open houses, pajama parties, receptions, interdorm dances, and traditional holiday parties provided diversion from the routine of studying.

The serenades, late dashes to classes, waiting for the mail, the rush when cokes came in... all these made up the little things that go along with the first year at college.

East Memorial girls participated in a large number of campus activities. The active intramurals teams were prominent; the honoraries, such as Mortar Board, Pamarada, Blue Crest, and Alpha Lambda Delta were represented; and other activities included A.W.S. committees, Y.W.C.A., coed counseling, W.A.A. and Danbers Club.

Morrison Hall was first brought to the attention of the entire Indiana University campus when Jean McKinney, freshman, was crowned Homecoming Queen on October 13. Jean was elected by the independent men on campus and had the honor of having two pictures in Life magazine's issue of November 5. Six upperclasswomen brought honor to the hall by receiving Mortar Board recognition, three by Alpha Lambda Delta membership, and three by Blue Crest membership.

Hall orientation was held during the first week of school. At this time our new resident counselor, Miss Jean Oppenheimer, became acquainted with life in Morrison. The social committee made plans for the semester including such activities as an open house, record hours, an exchange dinner, coffee hours, bowling party, theater party, party for underprivileged children, and a Christmas party.

Sycamore Hall, largest and newest of the Women's Residence Halls, is the home of many girls outstanding in scholarship and leadership who are active in campus organizations.

Sycamore's top social events included a recognition tea for outstanding girls on campus, participation in the University Sing, a scholarship dinner with the awarding of a scholarship cup, and the big interdorm dances. Participation in the huge interdorm Christmas festivities is also a highly regarded activity on the calendar. During the week preceding the holidays, the girls select names for Good-Angel Week. Creeping through the halls and hiding in closets, they try to keep their identity unknown as they leave gifts or secretly do some "housekeeping" for their girl. Recognition is made only at the big hall party which ends the seasonal celebration on campus.

This year, Sycamore coeds have enjoyed the revival of general social activities and other campus events characteristic of prewar college life. Memories of open-houses, dances, early breakfast hikes to the Cascades, pajama parties, bridge parties, and numerous private boresses will linger forever in the minds of all.

Life, love, and laughter is the keynote for Lincoln girls. The house is at its gayest at noon and evening where the usual bridge game may be found in every nook and cranny. Bing Crosby and Hoogie's "Hong Kong Blues" fill the living room.

Serious studies are, of course, a main attraction; therefore, silence reigns at the study table nightly. The traditional boress sharpens wits on such serious topics as philosophy, politics, and men.

The girls all had loads of fun making the Homecoming decoration, carrying out the idea of "Bottling up Nebraska," even though they didn't bring in a prize.

Pajama parties, dinners, picnics, and dances made otherwise dull evenings enjoyable, while Sunday afternoon coffee hours occasioned discussions with faculty members on the future plans for careers in various fields.

An executive student council, ably assisted by Mrs. Tangerman, the resident counselor, conducted the formal affairs of Lincoln House.

The girls all agree that life is great at Lincoln.

Riley Manor, located at the north end of Forest Drive, is a house for freshman women although we are honored by having upperclassmen as officers. This is an asset as these officers have had previous experience in handling freshman women.

This year, under new governmental rule, the officers have charge of the house. Their problems are taken to our graduate counselor, Miss Virginia Raymona, who is a resident of the house.

The social program for the year has included dances, hayrides, dinners, bridge parties, and teas. We have also participated in intramural activities such as swimming, volleyball, and basketball.

Riley Manor welcomed the new men on campus by having an open house in their honor in October. Then in November, the girls of Riley Manor kept in step with the season by having a hayride at McCormick's Creek.

With many memories of happy hours, Hephurn House again was affronted with coeds in late September. Freshman women invaded the upper classman domain for the first time because of the housing shortage, but bliss prevailed. Informal get-togethers around our famous fireplace constituted the week nights of the Hephurn girls. A successful open house started the social season. ARBUTUS contestant, Omicron Delta president, and DAILY STUDENT reporter are among the outstanding headliners.

Thirteen lucky gals entered the portals of Tarkington House in the fall semester for their first year at college to be dominated by six upperclasswomen. One of the first social functions of the year was a get-acquainted party for the freshmen given by the upperclassmen. A "Spook's loose" Halloween party followed, and later there was the "Cafe Freud" with song and dance. Eight girls went out for the volleyball team and started a vicious winning streak in hopes of bringing home the bacon. The art majors made a new sign so the cab companies could find the house. The freshmen have been happy in spite of the domineering upperclassmen and their favorite expression, "Get to your rooms, it's 7:30."

Under a new plan of semi-cooperative housing, Foley, Hilltop, Horner, Knight, and Wiles Houses were organized. We obeyed dormitory regulations, kept our own houses according to Good Housekeeping, ate at near-by restaurants, and kept law and order through our own organized house councils with a co-op council to keep the houses together.

For social life, we had 10:30 snacks, a hayride, a Christmas party at Hilltop, and interdormitory dances.

High up in our claim to campus leadership go Marty Sue Pitman, Mortar Board, Pamarada President, A.W.S. Council; Pat Kyle, Board of Standards, Pamarada, Wesley Foundation President; Annabelle Hollingsworth, Blue Crest President, Student Council; Helen Verdeyen, Roma Decker, I.S.A. Council. Also we were well represented in Y.W.C.A., W.A.A., Coed Counseling, DAILY STUDENT, Religious Cabinet, Newman Club, and Cosmopolitan Club. Lisa and Lena Hofner of Foley House are our Cosmopolitans. A third successful year of varied social programs and active participation in campus affairs is behind Townettes.

Early in the fall semester, the Townettes, numbering 400 coeds who live in town, get to elect the president, vice-president, and secretary of their respective districts. These three officers from each of the four districts comprise the Town Council, headed by a chairman elected from the independent women of A.W.S. council. Miss Catherine Evans advises the group.

Activities of the year included election of candidates for the ARBUTUS Beauty Contest, participation in volleyball and basketball intramurals, the annual Townette dance in the second semester, and a banquet for senior girls. Also heading the social calendar during the last year was the big Christmas party. Members enjoyed musical selections and caroling. Mrs. Kate Rutherford, of the speech department, entertained the girls with a special reading.

Townettes also enjoyed wiener roasts, bridge parties, theater, and bowling parties within the individual districts. Discussions were held after convocations at which time all enjoyed "in between study" snacks. The monthly bulletin, "In The Know," was distributed throughout the year to each Townette.

Prior to the war, South Hall was occupied by men students. This year one may see the Men's Residence Center adorned with feminine pulchritude from both North and South Halls. These girls have enjoyed their associations with the men, especially during meal hours in West Hall dining room.

Although, as a girls' dormitory, South Hall is comparatively new, its members are active participants in many campus organizations. Among them are Mortar Board, Pamarada, Blue Crest, Alpha Lambda Delta, W.A.A., A.W.S. clubs, and Y.W.C.A.

Social festivities for the year included a Halloween party featuring a scavenger hunt, Christmas dinner, formal spring dance, and numerous pajama parties.

NORTH HALL

"Let's go over and have dinner with Jack and Tom." Yes, that was our situation in North Hall this year. We were living right next to the largest group of men on the campus, and we all ate together in West Hall dining room. North Hall was turned back to the men the second semester, but meanwhile we North Hall girls enjoyed our good fortune.

Under the leadership of our president, Gayle Scott, North Hall made plans for both an academic and a social year together. We held Friday night discussion groups to talk about the controversial subjects of the time. We also organized a house chorus.

Socially North Hall had an open house for all men students with ping-pong and bridge tournaments, and wiener roast at the Cascades. We also had a Christmas party, carol singing, and decorated a tree in the quad in conjunction with South Hall during the Yuletide season. Added to this, every time we had a chance to get away from our studies for a little while, we gathered together for fun and food at pajama parties and had fireside sings. The second semester girls were moved into the dorms to make room for veterans.

AMERICAN VETERANS' COMMITTEE

Born during the first semester, the Bloomington Chapter of American Veterans Committee numbers about 50 members now, most of whom are students or professors. The growth of the local chapter is indicative of the expansion of the organization as a whole.

The A.V.C. began as a group who corresponded through the war and who banded together as soon as they were released. It is now an organization of about 30,000 members with about 200 chapters, the largest World War II veterans' organization.

Fifth among Indiana chapters to be chartered, the I.U. men took an active part in the first State Convention. Joe Marshall, Lennie Wexler, and Larry Levinson are the chapter's delegates to the first national convention with Bob Quimby, Wally Gilman, and Mace Broide as alternates.

Bob Quimby is chairman of the chapter, Lennie Wexler is vice-chairman, Joe Marshall is secretary, and the treasurer is Jack Schone.

Six hundred and eighty-five men hastily exchanged their khakis, navy blues, and forest greens for the longed-for mufti and descended en masse last February upon the efficient administration of the Men's Residence Center. W. N. Wentworth and the staff calmly stuffed them into the double-decker bunks of West Hall, North Hall (after sweeping out the female element), Tarkington House, Town House, and North and South Hoosier Halls. These last two, which flank the Field House, were built with amazing speed in less than a month.

The two hundred and fifteen who were in the Residence Center during the first semester enjoyed a variety of social events, more spacious quarters, and shouts of "TOVARICH" from the Army personnel studying Russian.

The new second semester students swelled the population to nine hundred and fifteen men, who proceeded to vote in a governor and a social chairman for each of the twenty-three units after which the board of governors selected a business manager. Then a merry pace of dances, dinners, serenades, picnics, hayrides, boresses, and sports events was begun and enthusiastically carried on throughout the semester.

Some people sure have it easy

Always, there's a bridge game

Really, there's more than one couch in the room

Business is always good here

Town House, instituted during the second semester of this school year as a temporary dormitory for veterans attending Indiana University, was a very active part of the Men's Residence Center. Behind the effective pitching of Thomas Lind, the men created a lot of noise in the softball league.

Its residents, through cooperation and consideration, developed a harmonious atmosphere and in its first semester has established its name thoroughly on the I.U. campus.

Characteristic of the men's respect for Town House was their 100% demand to have their picture taken for the ARBUTUS in front of their home at 109 West Fourth Street.

Town House has a location that might be called "better than the best." These fortunate men are fifteen feet from the Oasis, ten feet from Rol's, and adjacent to the V.F.W.

MEDICINE

Although the university has resumed its peacetime status with the longer semester, the medical students at Indianapolis are still under the speed-up program. With the problems of reconversion assuming more importance, the education of the youth is of greater concern to the nation. The Medical School, operating under a limited staff and wartime handicaps, turned out first-rate physicians. This year as in the past, the meds are continuing their studies under the high standards of the school with a keen eye to their future work. Some will become specialists in the various fields of medical science; others will assume the role of the general practitioners, an honored and essential position in every community. They are to be commended for their scholarship, diligence to work, and a sense of humor under straining conditions.

The first chapter of Nu Sigma Nu was founded at the University of Michigan in 1882, but the fraternity has expanded until at present it is composed of forty-one chapters. The Beta Eta chapter was established at Indiana University in 1908. Many of the alumni of Nu Sigma Nu are among the most prominent men in medicine, and many hold positions on the faculties of medical schools throughout the country.

The Beta Eta chapter holds monthly business and social meetings and has occasional dinners to which prominent local physicians are invited as guest speakers. The top social event of each year is the initiation of the freshman pledge class, which is followed by a banquet and dance.

Phi Chi was chartered at I.U. in 1903 before the medical school as we know it was formed by the consolidation of four medical schools and organized as a part of the University in 1908. It is a national medical fraternity, the largest in the country. The objectives of the organization are the promotion of fellowship and scholarship among its members and the forming of tighter bonds between the members of a profession where unity is essential.

The Senior Class is unique in that it began the seven-year medical course in September 1941 and will graduate in April of 1946, the first and last class to complete the premedical and medical courses, nonstop on the speed-up program.

Phi Beta Pi, one of the leaders among national medical fraternities, was founded in 1901 at the West Pennsylvania Medical College. In 1905, Omicron Alpha Zeta chapter was established at Indiana University. The encouragement of good conduct and scholarship and promotion of the advancement of medical sciences are the basic aims. Thirty-nine chapters in leading medical schools comprise the national fraternity. The flower is the White Chrysanthemum; colors are green and white.

Membership is limited to medical students who meet certain scholastic and social requirements. Omicron Alpha Zeta chapter maintains a large enrollment and boasts numerous active and interested alumni. The active chapter in Indianapolis and the pledge class in Bloomington keep high scholastic standards and promote a program both social and educational. Social events include the formal Christmas dinner-dance and spring initiation dance. Stag parties, lectures, and movies of medical interest are held.

PHI DELTA EPSILON

Phi Delta Epsilon, a national nonsectarian medical organization, was established in 1913 by Dr. Aaron Brown, who is still actively engaged in the practice of medicine and holds the honorary lifetime office of Grand Consul.

The organization's purposes are to promote good fellowship, equality, and unity among its members, to encourage the highest standards of achievement in medicine, and to maintain a high plane of ethics in the practice of medicine.

Programs at monthly meetings include medical motion pictures and lectures on medical subjects of current interest delivered by members of the Indiana teaching staff or prominent local physicians.

In addition, complying with tradition, there is a bi-annual dinner-dance in honor of the graduating seniors and the newly initiated sophomores.

Phi Rho Sigma fraternity was founded October 31, 1890, at the Chicago Medical College by Milbank Johnson. Pi chapter was established at Indiana University in 1903. Phi Rho Sigma endeavors to promote unity, fellowship, and friendship among its members, and the highest of standards and ethics in the practice of medicine.

N U S I G M A P H I

Nu Sigma Phi is a national medical fraternity, founded in 1879. Its principle has always been the endorsement of scientific investigation, intellectual advancement, and social development. Since its founding at Indiana University in 1909, Gamma chapter has striven to achieve those purposes for which it was organized.

The first speaker of the year was Dr. Caroline Goodwin, who told us of the work of the Maternal Health Center in Indianapolis. Dr. Martha Souter discussed some of the problems in the practice of pediatrics; Dr. Jane Kitcham reviewed some obstetrical cases; and Dr. Alberta Jenkins Jones spoke to us of the children's psychiatric clinics and child psychiatry in general. Dr. Laura Hive summarized data on Diabetes Mellitus and latest trends in management of that disease. Our students also contributed to our programs by the presentation of cases. Of special value at our meetings are the informal discussions, which take place after the evening's presentation.

DENTISTRY

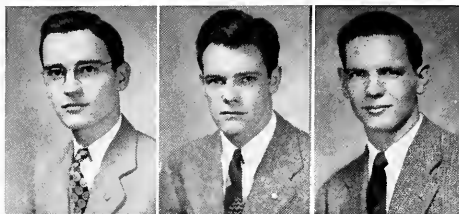

"Gee, 'doc,' take it easy!" is one of the remarks the students at the Indiana University School of Dentistry in Indianapolis will become familiar with in the next few years.

The Indiana Dental College was founded in 1879, and it is the ninth oldest dental school to be organized in America. In 1925 it was purchased by the State of Indiana and became Indiana School of Dentistry.

The "dents" get plenty of actual experience along with their class work. Excellent clinical facilities are available at Long and Riley Hospitals and in the Children's Dental Clinic.

Very active on the med-center campus are the four national dental fraternities, Alpha Omega, Delta Sigma Delta, Psi Omega, and Xi Psi Phi. Omega Kappa Upsilon, a national dental honorary fraternity, is represented by the Theta Theta chapter.

In July of 1945, Maynard K. Hine was appointed dean of the school and professor of Periodontia and Histopathology. Dean Hine received his D.D.S. from the University of Illinois in 1930, and his M.S. in 1932.

Alpha Omega fraternity was founded in 1909, when the Romach Fraternity (1906) of the University of Pennsylvania and Alpha Omega (1907) of the University of Maryland combined. From this humble beginning, the fraternity has grown until now chapters are located at nearly all of the country's dental schools. The Alpha Gamma chapter was established here at Indiana University in 1928.

Although the smallest of the dental fraternities of the Indianapolis campus, Alpha Omega has been one of the most active. Special clinics, monthly dinners featuring alumni and faculty members as guest speakers along with dances and parties have provided for its members a well-rounded educational and social program.

X I P S I P H I

Xi Psi Phi Fraternity began its existence as the first Dental fraternity at Indiana Dental College with the installation of the Theta Chapter in 1893. It is the second dental fraternity which was organized nationally and now has twenty-five chapters in leading universities in the United States and Canada.

The fraternity was organized for the purpose of providing a more substantial foundation upon which to build a successful professional life, of creating a desire for a cleaner, healthier, and more wholesome atmosphere in which to live, and of developing an appreciation of the qualities of friendship and hospitality.

Our Deputy Supreme President, Dr. Rogers, serves in the capacity of counselor and faculty representative. His interest and devotion of time and effort to his younger fraternity brothers are greatly appreciated by the members of the chapter. The Theta Chapter house, scene of work and recreation, is maintained at 1627 North Meridian Street.

Delta Sigma Delta has the distinction of being the first fraternity to limit its membership to dental students and practitioners exclusively. It was founded in 1883 at the University of Michigan.

At the present time the fraternity has thirty-two chapters in this country and several representative groups abroad.

The aim of Delta Sigma Delta is to unite the undergraduates with the graduate members of the profession so that the students may profit from their constructive criticism and past experience.

Upon graduation the student member of the fraternity becomes eligible for membership in the National Supreme Chapter.

The Xi chapter was founded in 1900 and is located at 1424 Central Avenue in Indianapolis, under the guidance of Dr. F. Wade LaRue, deputy for the Supreme Council.

The Junior American Dental Association was founded in 1939 and is conducted under the auspices of the American Dental Association and the faculties of the dental schools. This Association was organized at Indiana University in 1940 and has a 100% membership of those eligible. A new constitution and bylaws were adopted by the Association this year for the purpose of strengthening the Association.

Membership is limited to sophomores, juniors, and seniors in good standing in the professional school.

In monthly meetings members consider problems which will face the dental graduate and solutions which will lead to successful practice of the dental profession.

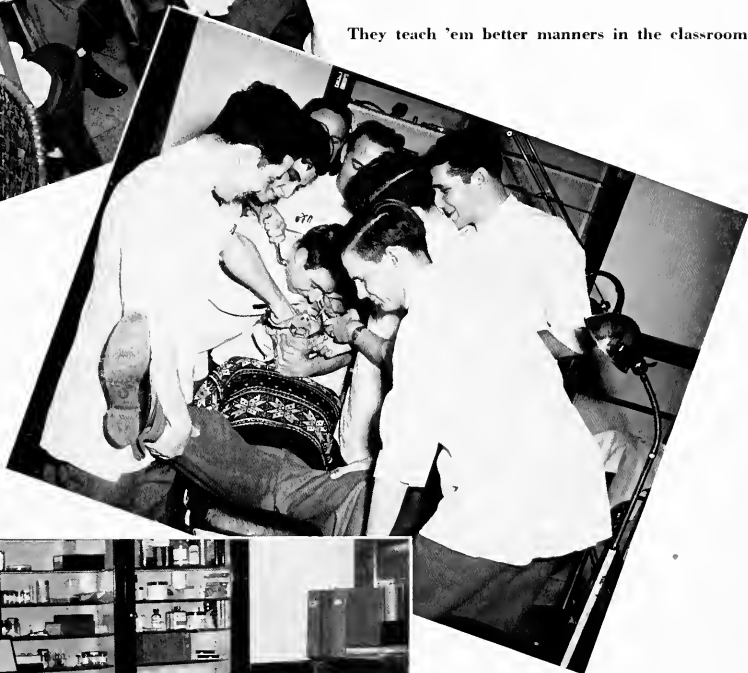

Under the guidance of its faculty advisor, Dr. J. Frank Hall, this student body carries on a program of both educational and social activities. The annual association dance is the outstanding social event of the school year.

Such efficiency

Founded nationally at the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery in 1872, the Omega Chapter at Indiana University was organized in 1903. Recently the fraternity acquired a chapter house. Psi Omega alumni helped accomplish this.

This year saw a reversion to civilian clothes for graduates and many of the underclassmen. Meetings are held twice monthly. Each month the active chapter meets with alumni members, a means of cementing the relationships of younger men with those of practicing dentists. Dr. Barb of Indianapolis is deputy councilor of the active chapter while Dr. Currie is Grand Master of the Alumni organization.

Both active and alumni have the same goal — to further the fellowship of Psi Omega and to better aid its members to engage in dental practice in an efficient and ethical manner.

NURSING

Nurses trained at the Indiana University Training School for Nurses have helped to alleviate suffering and save lives through two world wars, and they stand ready to perform their duties of mercy in the peacetime battle against the scourge of injury and disease.

Because the standards of this School are the highest, and because the ideals of the student nurses are of the calibre expected of them, thousands of the sick in future years will receive the best care, effectively and efficiently.

Not only are nurses here ably prepared for careers in hospitals and sickrooms, but they are thoroughly educated in the fine points of conducting more worth-while everyday lives. Their own happiness and their responsibilities to society and community are emphasized matters.

With many years of Indiana University Nurses Training School ideas and ideals behind them, since its founding in 1914, the student nurses add many extracurricular activities to their scholastic diet, including sports and dancing, and many less active pastimes. Student nurses, in other words, work hard and have fun too.

MEDICAL TECHNICIANS

In 1933 a new school joined the family at the Indiana University Medical Center in Indianapolis. This new addition was the School for Medical Technologists.

At first only a few students sought this training, and those accepted received instruction in the procedures of the clinical laboratory by the apprentice system. Didactic courses were added. In 1935 a curriculum leading to a B.S. degree was established through the cooperation of the College of Arts and Sciences and the School of Medicine. This curriculum includes courses in bacteriology, biochemistry, serology, clinical microscopy, and parasitology.

The number of students trained is comparatively small. The enrollment is kept down because of the high entrance qualifications, and the fact that individual instruction is needed in most of the subjects. It requires mastery of the theoretical as well as the practical aspect of the basic sciences to become a medical technologist.

Dr. J. L. Arbogast was named head of the School in February, 1946. He received his M.D. degree from the Indiana University School of Medicine in 1936.

LAW

On September 1, 1944, the Indiana Law School was taken over by Indiana University. Under the competent direction of Dean Henry B. Witham, an evening division was established to benefit the students who are employed full time. The Evening Division maintains a complete staff who provide the students with excellent courses in criminal law, jurisprudence, contracts, constitutional law, equity, legislation, taxation and other subjects which are obtainable in the best Law Schools throughout the United States.

The graduates of the Evening Division at Indianapolis receive the same degree that students at Bloomington are entitled to. After the merger of the two schools it became possible for Alumni of the Indiana Law School to receive a diploma from Indiana University.

The consolidation has been a most satisfactory solution for the betterment of the legal education in this state, and gives many worthy students a chance to complete their education.

SIGMA DELTA KAPPA

The intercollegiate law fraternity of Sigma Delta Kappa is a national organization of lawyers and law students. It was founded on August 14, 1914, at the University of Michigan and now has forty-five chapters in the outstanding law schools in this country. There are also eight active alumni chapters.

The Gamma chapter was chartered in 1914, and its present membership is made up entirely of students at the Evening Division of the Law School at Indianapolis, Indiana.

The Indianapolis alumni chapter meets on the third Monday of each month for a noon luncheon, followed by a talk on a topic of current interest to the members.

The National Fraternity also publishes a quarterly, called the Si De Ka, which is one of the two fraternal publications recognized by the Index to Legal Periodicals and Law Journal of the American Association of Law Libraries.

An Old I. U. Tradition

Where's everyone going? To the Gables, of course — it's joeing time — dinner time — any time is Gables time for the I.U. campus. They were doing it 'way back when'; they'll probably be doing it when your children turn up at the alma mater.

Dancers throughout the state travel to the Indiana Roof to dance every Wednesday, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday 'neath slowly moving clouds and twinkling stars.

Colorful Spain furnished the inspiration for this magnificent ballroom where dancers move rhythmically over the mirrorlike dance floor to the music of a parade of nationally famous dance orchestras. Every facility for your convenience and comfort will be found in the resplendent surroundings of this enchanting beautiful dance and show place.

FREE OFFICE PLANNING SERVICE

Any distributor of S. S. White Equipment will gladly tell you about the S. S. White Free Office Planning Service and Easy Payment Plans. Contact him, or write direct.

The more you observe and study the shape of things to come, the more clear is the fact that S. S. White Equipment is in perfect accord with the style trend for tomorrow. All the intimate, peek-a-boo glimpses of the "better things for better living" are compliments to the design of the Master Unit and Motor Chair.

Simplicity in line, functional in form, greater economy in operation, higher efficiency in performance, all forecast for almost everything of the future are in the Master Unit and Motor Chair today.

Make it a point to see and operate the Master Unit and Motor Chair, for only by seeing and operating it can you comprehend fully the prestige and convenience it brings to the dental operating room.

THE S. S. WHITE DENTAL MFG. CO. 211 S. 12th STREET, PHILADELPHIA 5, PA.

There Is Opportunity In Cooperation!

Probably the fastest growing type of business organization in America is the voluntary democratic cooperative association owned by its customers, to whose service it is dedicated. The Co-op works at the improvement of the economic life of the community through a practical business organization.

The rapid development of agricultural cooperatives, particularly in Indiana has opened up unusual employment possibilities in a wide variety of business fields — the marketing and processing of farm commodities, the purchasing of farm supplies, and the underwriting of the insurance needs, both life and casualty, of rural people.

Many of our executives and department heads are Indiana University graduates.

We will welcome inquiries concerning the opportunities for challenging service in this new and rapidly expanding field of Cooperative organizations.

Forward-looking young people are again giving attention to career courses — PREPARATION FOR NORMAL, PEACETIME LIVING. They want to prepare to meet the higher and more rigid standards of efficiency required in desirable, promising business positions.

Here, instructional methods permit students to progress individually, in both regular and refresher courses, according to ability, application, and previous training.

For Bulletin, interested persons are requested to contact the respective points they prefer to attend, or write.
